PREPARE FOR BATTLE NORTHWEST OF PARIS

French Cancel Railway Service Between the Capital and Boulogne—Action Is Unexplained.

Berlin Reports "Complete" Defeat of British at St. Quentin, Well Within the French Boundary.

Paris, Aug. 29, 1 p. m.—Train service between Paris and Boulogne was suspended today until further notice. It is presumed here that this step was taken because the allied armies are about to engage the Germans on or near the railroad line running into Boulogne.

Americans going from Paris to England are being sent by way of Dieppe, while English travelers are being routed by way of Havre. The line of railroad communication between Paris and Boulogne runs from the French capital a little west of north to Beauvais, and then continues a little east of north to Amiens. From Amiens the line runs northwest to Abbeville and thence in northerly direction along the coast to Boulogne.

Dieppe is northwest of Paris and sixty miles to the south of Boulogne. Havre is farther to the west of Paris than is Dieppe, and is about sixty miles in a southwesterly direction from Dieppe.

New French Army.
London, Aug. 29, 4:30 p. m.—According to reports in London, France has formed a new army of a quarter of a million men to take the offensive against the German right. This rumor lacks confirmation, however.

"Hundreds of Thousands."
Field Marshal Lord Roberts made the declaration today that Great Britain, in the present war, would require hundreds of thousands of soldiers. The occasion of this statement was the review of a new regiment of 1800 London business men. In an address Lord Roberts said in part:

"You are the pick of the nation's highly educated business men. You follow various professions and you are doing exactly what all able-bodied men in the kingdom should do, no matter what their rank or station in life."

My feeling toward you is one of intense admiration. How very different is your action to that of men who can still go on playing cricket and football as if the very existence of the country were not at stake.

"We are engaged in a life and death struggle, and you are showing your determination to do your duty as soldiers and by all the means in your power to bring this war—a war forced on us by an ambitious and unscrupulous nation—to a successful result."

"Complete Defeat."
Berlin, Aug. 29, by wireless to the Associated Press.—No news was received here today concerning the situation on the French frontier, beyond a special dispatch to the Tages Zeitung, declaring that the British defeat (Continued on page 4, second column.)

LAND PARTY DRIVEN OFF

Tsing Tau Fort Throws Shell and Orientals Decamp.

Germans Continue Preparations for Defense of City.

Tsing Tau, Kiao Chow, Aug. 29, 12 noon.—One of the forts threw a shell across the entrance of the bay yesterday afternoon at a small party of Japanese or Chinese that had landed on Cape Jaeschke. The landing party departed immediately. Its mission was not known.

Six Japanese warships may be seen every day from the Tsing Tau fortifications, cruising back and forth beyond the range of the German guns. Only men clad in khaki are permitted to show themselves on the fortifications. White clothing is barred because it is conspicuous.

Prepare for Attack.
The Germans are continuing with energy their preparations against attack by land. Mines are being placed and provided with electrical connections and guns are being brought into position. The Germans declare that every day allowed them for preparation means that they will be able to inflict casualties on the Japanese of not less than 1,000 men.

The roads within the leased territory are in excellent condition and motor cars are proving of great value. Two small Japanese cruisers on Thursday drew the first shots from the Tsing Tau fortifications. Several shots dropped around one of the cruisers, whereupon the vessel fired one shot in reply and withdrew. It is reported that one German shell found its mark.

The Japanese vessels approached evidently with the purpose of reconnoitering. They were within seven miles and plainly visible. Several shots from the forts dropped around the leading cruisers, raised columns of water, whereupon the vessel veered east and departed at full speed after having fired one shot.

Last Eight Months.
During the engagement a German aeroplane flew out over the sea. It is estimated here that the forts will be able to last eight months. They are still receiving fresh food supplies. The Shantung trains are running as usual.

AMBASSADOR IS AROUSED

Von Bernstorff Says the Charges of Cruelty Are Shameful.

Scores Allies for Taking Negroes and Orientals Into the War.

New York, Aug. 29.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, who returned here from Washington last night, issued the following statement today in reference to the alleged atrocities of the German army:

"The campaign of our enemies charging the German army with cruelty is absolutely shameful. The traditions of the German army are above all attacks in this respect. Nobody can regret more than I do it women and children have been killed during the fighting. This is, however, unavoidable, if the civilian population of a country joins in the fighting, as is the case in Belgium, where German soldiers have been shot in the back. HEAVY SIEGE GUNS TO ATTACK ANTWERP

Germans Have Killed or Driven Out 59,800 Malines People.

London, Aug. 29, 6:42 a. m.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam says that out of 60,000 inhabitants of Malines only 200 are now left in the town. Refugees state that many were killed by the bombardment, and practically all of the rest fled. The Germans are bringing up heavy siege guns of a new pattern for use against Antwerp. These guns have also been used at Malines.

SCENE OF DESPERATE FIGHTING BETWEEN TEUTON AND SLAV

This map shows the line of advance of the czar's great armies. Russian forces, advancing through Eydtukhnen, Gumbinnen and Insterburg, have won two tactical battles and are now reported in Koenigsberg. Other forces, crossing the border near Johannsburg, are said to occupy the great fortified camp of Allenstein and the city of Gerdau, whither the Germans are retreating. A still larger force is advancing through Russian Poland against Thorn and Posen. Russian armies also have penetrated almost to Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, after weeks of hard fighting along the border.

FIRST NATIVE NORTH AMERICAN REGIMENT STARTS FOR WAR ZONE

WAR NEWS IN BRIEFEST FORM

What little definite war news escaped the censors today reflected chiefly the situation in East Prussia, where the operations are assumed daily a greater importance.

These reports are conflicting. At Berlin it is officially announced that five Russian army corps have been defeated by the Austrians and German south of Allenstein, sixty miles south of Koenigsberg. Newspaper dispatches from St. Petersburg, on the other hand, declare that Allenstein has been occupied by the Russians, who are investing Koenigsberg. From the same source comes the statement that the Russians are drawing a net around Lemberg, the capital of Galicia.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts declared today that Great Britain would require hundreds of thousands of men for the present conflict. Berlin has received a report of the defeat of the British at St. Quentin.

SPECTACULAR STUNT BY RUSS ARTILLERY

Men Unhitch and Mount Horses and Capture German Guns.

London, Aug. 29, 11:45 a. m.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Reuter Telegraph company recites a daring act credited to Prince Eristoff, a colonel in the Russian horse artillery. When the Germans were retreating from Stallupoenen, a town of East Prussia, the prince ordered his men to unhitch their horses from their own guns, mount them and gallop after the Germans. Under a heavy fire the Russian impromptu cavalrymen went forward, captured the German guns and brought them back to their lines.

KOENIGSBERG INVESTED; REPORTED TO HAVE FALLEN

Berlin Claims Defeat of Five Russian Army Corps to the South of Allenstein.

Also Says Austria Has Invaded Russia and Holds Region in Front of Zamosse.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Russian troops are thirty kilometers from Lemberg and Serbian army headquarters has been moved forward to Zalievo, according to official dispatches today to the French embassy. Before Nancy, the French troops found 2,500 German dead, and before Vitrimont 4,500 dead.

KOENIGSBERG INVESTED.
London, Aug. 29, 5:09 p. m.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Paris, says an official communication given out in the French capital confirms previous reports that the Russians have completely invested Koenigsberg, in Eastern Prussia.

Fail Is Reported.
London, Aug. 29, 3:50 a. m.—A dispatch to the Times from St. Petersburg says that reports are circulating there of the fall of Koenigsberg, the strongly fortified seaport of the Germans in East Prussia.

The Russian advance in East Prussia gave rise to three days of prolonged and stubborn engagements in the vicinity of Soldau, Allenstein and Bischofsburg, where the enemy had concentrated the army corps which retreated from Gumbinnen, and some fresh troops. Allenstein has been successfully occupied by the Russians.

Allenstein Occupied.
London, Aug. 29, 2:15 p. m.—A dispatch to the Evening News from Copenhagen says: "Ordinary railroad transportation in Germany has been suspended for the present because of the sinking of the enemy in carrying troops from the west front to the hard pressed east front."

Germans Send Every Able Bodied Man to the Fields.

London, Aug. 29, 6:42 a. m.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam says the Germans have ordered able-bodied Belgians in Liege and Tongres and in the vicinity of Antwerp to assist in the harvest. The news of this order is likely to swell greatly the number of Belgian refugees in Southern Holland.

Writes of War in Terms of Sports

London Times Military Correspondent Has Not Lost Hope.

London, Aug. 29, 5:12 a. m.—The military correspondent of the Times, in his comment on the war, today says: "There is a great difference between the tasks of the allies in the western and eastern theater of war."

"In the west our task is stonewalling, that of the Russians is steam-rolling."

"The situation in the west is such that only an extraordinary stroke of good fortune could give us a smashing victory and enable us to annihilate the foe. It is our business to keep our wicket up while Russia makes the runs. We must fight back, if need be to the Atlantic coast, without allowing ourselves to be knocked out."

"The Russians have a most brilliant role in this war. Russia must reach Berlin within a couple of months. If at the end of that time our claws are still fast in the German armies in the west, and if Serbia still has her teeth in Austria's back, then the strategic and political object of the war will be achieved."

SEA FIGHT WAS BRIEF

British Officer Tells of Sinking of the Kaiser Wilhelm.

Battle With Cruiser High Flyer Lasted But Forty Minutes.

London, Aug. 29, 12:30 p. m.—The Evening News publishes a dispatch from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, giving an account of the sinking of the North German Lloyd trans-Atlantic liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse off the coast of Africa by the British cruiser High Flyer, which was reported last Thursday.

Lieut. Deane, a British army officer who was taken prisoner by the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse from the British steamer Galician on the high seas, is the authority of the Las Palmas correspondent, and in an interview he gives an account of how the great liner was destroyed.

Lieut. Deane was not on board the German liner; he had been sent over to the collier Arctur, from which the liner was coming.

When it was seen that the Kaiser Wilhelm was doomed, the German captain ordered the liner to be abandoned.

London, Aug. 29, 2:35 p. m.—The official information bureau says today: "In destroying the ancient town of Louvain the German troops committed a crime for which there can be no atonement and humanity suffered a loss which never can be repaired."

Regarding the German announcement that the inhabitants had fired on their troops, the bureau says:

"The assumption of the German command that the German army can only be supposed that in the decision to conceal the facts the first idea which occurred to him was to set up on as an excuse for an act without parallel in the history of civilized peoples."

ALLIES HAVE BEEN DRIVEN TO DEFENSIVE FIGHTING

England Admits Disasters and Blames French Campaign.

New French Government Issues Manifesto to the People.

London, Aug. 29.—Friday was a day of great character. News of the gravest character came from France, where in a single week the aspects of the operations have changed entirely.

Last week the allied armies were pursuing an offensive campaign on all the frontiers. Now, according to official news received from Berlin, Emperor William is congratulating his army upon the success of German operations in the task of putting the "iron ring" around the allied armies from the North, the Vosges, while Lord Kitchener, the British war minister, came into parliament with the announcement that the troops from India are being called to the front in France and that the British army is to be immediately reinforced.

The only consolation offered the British public was the testimony from Field Marshal Sir John French that, in the heavy fighting against tremendous odds, the British troops who suffered severely, bore themselves with conspicuous bravery.

It is realized that the terrible struggle is only at its beginning, and the German plan of campaign, openly revealed to Sir William Edward Goschen, then British ambassador to Germany, by Gottlieb von Jagow, the German foreign secretary, as shown by the official paper published yesterday—namely, to strike the swiftest and strongest blow at France, regarding the neutrality of any other ally, and then, when France is at Germany's feet, for Germany to turn her attention to the Russian attack—being carried through ruthlessly.

The offensive strategy of the allies is abandoned. The German army, in vast superior numbers, has imposed on the allies a purely defensive strategy, which is devoted to delaying as much as possible what seems to be an inevitable advance on Paris. Little can be gathered from either British or French official accounts of the great battles of the past week. In fact, more is learned from what is omitted than from what is stated. The only thing that is clear is that the allies are fighting on the defensive upon ever receding lines, while it is becoming increasingly clear that the desire to make a brilliant coup in Alsace-Lorraine was a weak spot in French strategy.

On the side of the allies, whose efforts are devoted to the gaining of time while the Russian hosts overrun Prussia, however, is the fact that their armies are still in being, and that many may run some danger from their ever lengthening lines of communication.

That this danger is not negligible is shown by the news that Emperor William has ordered the mobilization of the last reserves to protect communications and occupy Belgium so that the troops now engaged in this work may be released to go to the front where they are badly needed to replace Germany's heavy losses in killed and wounded.

The work of provisioning and supplying the German armies is greatly facilitated by the Germans being able to draw on Belgium for supplies.

The British public is facing the disappointing news with patient determination. The Spectator says today in an editorial note:

"There is cause for anxiety and there is cause for stern determination; above all there is cause for unflinching energy in military preparation, but there is no cause for despair or even despondency. Time is with us, and against our enemies."

On the eastern battlefield the war continues favorable to the allies. The Russians continue to advance in East Prussia and Poland, neither the German nor the Austrian force apparently being able to withstand them.

Paris Manifesto.

Paris, Aug. 29.—The cabinet last evening issued the following manifesto to the country:

"Frenchmen: The government has just taken possession of its post of honor in the defense of the country. It knows it may count upon its courage and that it gives itself with all its soul to the country's defense."

"The government knows it may count upon the country. Its sons are shedding their blood for the fatherland and liberty alongside the heroic British and English armies. They support the most formidable storm of shot and shell that has ever been let loose upon a people and everyone stands firm. To them glory! Glory to the living and glory to the dead. Thanks to so much heroism, final victory is assured."

"Certainly a great battle is being fought, but it is not decisive. Whatever may be the result, the struggle will continue. France is not as easy a prey as insolence of the enemy imagines."

"Frenchmen, present duty is tragic, but simple! Repulse the onslaught, pursue him who has driven you from his stain! Save liberty from his grasp! Hold fast as long as need be until the end! Lift up your minds and souls and remain the master of your destiny!"

"Meanwhile our Russian allies march by decided steps toward the German capital that is pervaded with anxiety and inflicts many reverses on its troops, which retired."

"We ask of the country all the sacrifices and all the resources that it can furnish in men and energy. Be firm and resolute. Let the national life, aided by appropriate finance and administrative measures, continue."

"Let us have confidence in ourselves. Let us forget all that is not of the nation. Face to the frontier. We have method and will and we shall have victory."

REPORTS SINKING OF TWO GERMAN CRUISERS IN FIGHT

English Fleet Suffers Little in Helgoland Clash.

London, Aug. 29.—It was announced late yesterday that the British fleet had sunk two German cruisers and two German torpedo boat destroyers off Helgoland. A third cruiser was set afire and was lost in the battle, it was added, and the British loss of life was not heavy.

In addition to the two torpedo boat destroyers and three cruisers, many of the German torpedo boat destroyers were damaged or other continued.

Rear Admiral Sir David Beatty commanded the British forces and with a strong array of torpedo boats, destroyers, battle cruisers and light cruisers in Helgoland bright and early in the morning. The protected cruiser Mainz with the light cruiser squadron, while the battle squadron sank another cruiser in the Cohn class.

In the general fighting two of the German destroyers were riddled and sunk, while many others were badly damaged. One cruiser, battle-destroyer and on fire, drifted away in the mist and was lost sight of.

The British cruiser squadron, according to the semi-official report of the battle, although attacked by submarine boats and menaces by floating mines and guns from the German warships, suffered no serious losses. The cruiser methyst and the torpedo boat destroyer Laertes both were damaged, but all the ships in the British fleet were active at the end of the engagement. The British loss of life was not heavy.

In the battle cruiser squadron were the flagship Lion, the New Zealand, the Queen Mary and the Princess Royal, commanded by Rear Admiral Beatty, while Rear Admiral Moore, Rear Admiral Christian, Commodore Goodenough and Commodore Tyrwhitt had charge of other contingents.

A wireless dispatch received last night from one of the cruisers said she was making for port with men wounded in the engagement.

The Mainz and the vessel of the Cohn class were protected cruisers, 402 tons, armed with 10.5-inch guns. They had a speed of slightly over twenty-five knots an hour.

PARIS IS WELL GUARDED, SAY MILITARY EXPERTS

Washington, Aug. 29.—The fortifications of Paris and their ability to resist a siege are receiving the closest attention of military observers, now that Paris is the actual objective point of the German forces and the ministry of war has adopted urgent measures to strengthen the city.

Each of the city's detailed defenses are surrounded with strict secrecy. French military authorities, yet their general character and formidable strength are well known to military experts, who recognize them as among the strongest fortifications in the world.

The fortifications consist of three distinct circles surrounding the city. The first is the solid wall of masonry eighteen feet high extending for twenty-two miles around the old sections of Paris. The second, the system of seventeen detached forts scattered at intervals of miles beyond the wall and making a circuit of the city thirty-four miles long, and third, an outer circle of seventy-five miles long on the heights around the city.

Over 100 Square Miles.

Each of these circles of masonry and entrenchments is linked to the forts by bastions which permit of a cross-fire approach to the city.

The system is shown by its area, which exceeds 100 square miles.

The wall around Paris and the seventeen detached forts two miles beyond the wall were built by Napoleon I. They sustained the German siege of 1870-71 and the outer forts have since been greatly strengthened.

The third line of forts, on the hills of St. Germain, Vincennes, and the Bois de Boulogne, are the latest modern construction, with the latest types of batteries and heavy guns.

The inner wall and outer circle surrounds the best known and most important sections of the city, including the business sections along the Grand Boulevard, the residence sections of the north and west end of the city, and the Latin quarter and other sections on the left bank of the Seine.

Second and Third Lines.

On the outside of the wall, a circle of suburbs extends for many miles, including Neuilly, Argenteuil, Versailles, and St. Germain. The suburbs are defended by the second and third lines of defenses are scattered among these suburbs, protecting them from approaches to the capital. The wall contains ninety-three bastions and sixty-seven gates. Some of these have been abandoned owing to the pressure of modern warfare.

The second line of forts includes the famous fortress of Mont Valerian, which was built in 1700. It was strengthened by two groups of works—Hautes Bruyeres and the Bastion de la Chapelle.

South, North and East.

South of the city is the row of forts at Ivry, Buzenval, Mont Rouge, Vincennes, and St. Mandé. To the north are three great forts around St. Denis, Fort de la Chapelle, and Fort de la Plaine. To the east are Fort de la Chapelle, Fort de la Plaine, and Fort de la Chapelle.

Stood for 132 Days.

The outer circle of forts, of the most modern type, have from 20 to 30 guns each. In all the three lines of defenses there are 1700 guns.

Not counting troops assembled within the city. According to military experts, it would require a force of 600,000 men to invest these defenses.

At the time of the siege of Paris of 1870-71, the Germans brought up their big siege guns, attacking the enceinte and the forts. The Germans withstood the siege for 132 days. Since then the city has been fortified with the latest type of guns and the forts have been strengthened.

Paris experts say the fortifications are so well planned and so strong that those which resisted the former siege.

HINDUS TO JOIN IN WAR

Native Troops From India Already Are on the Way.

Kitchener Makes Announcement and Marquis of Crewe Explains It.

London, Aug. 29.—Native troops from India are on their way to increase the British forces in France. This was made known through announcements in the house of lords yesterday by the Marquis of Crewe, secretary of state for war.

Lord Kitchener said that in addition to reinforcements which would be received from this country, Great Britain has decided the forces in France must be increased. The Indian forces were chosen for this purpose. Lord Kitchener said all camps in the army in France were being filled up.

The Marquis of Crewe said the Indian people desired the native soldiers to fight by the side of their comrades in the British army, and that it would have been a disappointment to India if they had been debarred from taking part in the war in Europe. The Marquis asserted that in spite of heavy drafts on the Indian army, the Indian frontiers would be fully secured.

"Wonderful Wave of Loyalty."

The Marquis of Crewe said:

"It has been deeply impressed on the government that itself is a wonderful wave of enthusiasm and loyalty at the present time passing over India is largely due to the desire of the Indian people that Indian soldiers should stand side by side with their comrades in the British army."

India is aware of the employment of African troops to assist the British troops and it would have been a disappointment to the Indian people if they had been debarred from taking part in the war in Europe.

"Our army will thus be reinforced by soldiers—high souled men—of first rate courage and I am sure that they will give the best possible account of themselves."

To venture to think that this keen desire of our Indian fellow subjects to cooperate with us is not less gratifying than the same desire shown in the self-governing dominions, some of which are in our course will no doubt also be found fighting side by side with their troops and Indian troops in the war.

Must Defend India.

"Of course we must defend India. India does not possess an inexhaustible reserve of troops, and the defense of India must itself be a primary consideration, not only to India itself but to us; but I am able to state that so far as external aggression is concerned, which I hope and believe will not occur, I am sure that we will be able to do so."

In spite of these heavy drafts on the Indian army, the Indian frontiers will be fully and adequately secured.

As regards internal troubles, I believe that the enthusiasm which pervades all classes and races in India will result in the sort altogether impossible.

That enthusiasm has found vent in many different ways, and in some cases of great liberality for the use of the troops in the war.

Yesterday by the viceroy of India that some of the principal Indian princes had sent a gift of 20 lakhs (about $2,500) for the use of the troops in the war, and the viceroy has been, varying scales, a number of offers of the kind.

"I feel confident, therefore, that the action we take will meet with the most enthusiastic reception in India, and will be approved by the lords of the house of commons and public opinion here generally."

7,000 FOOTBALL MEN FOR BRITISH ARMY

London, Aug. 28.—The incorporation of a brigade of football players into Lord Kitchener's new army is the latest proposal for the reinforcement of the British army.

Both the war office and the football association have received it with considerable enthusiasm.

The football association has a membership of 7,000 trained athletes, who, it is suggested, might be better employed in charging the Germans on the battlefield than in charging the English on the football field. The council of the association has agreed to meet on Monday to decide if these 7,000 men shall be released from their present engagements and the football fields turned into drill grounds.

Washington, Aug. 29.—First Lieut. Fielding L. Poindester, aged 45, retired, has been dropped from the army roll as a deserter. He had failed to appear at the final meeting here.

Previously the officers' pay had been stopped in a vain effort to make him communicate with the department. Lieut. Poindester was restored for disability in 1908.

Camp Miller of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. at Sturgeon Lake has just closed its most successful season. The total enrollment was 103. Part of that number stayed three weeks, some two and others one week.

An honor that every boy coveted was to win a Camp Miller "M." This was awarded every boy who secured 200 points in two weeks. The following campers won this honor:

Winners of the "M":

Jasper Raymond was the best all-around camper and won a gold medal. He had 287 points. Stanley Lamb had the second highest number of points and won the silver medal. Oliver Maggard came third with 271, and was presented with a boys' department day to the best tent, and the tents that won the most times were presented with Y. M. C. A. pins. This honor went to the Minnesota tent, with Mr. Batchelor as leader.

Eleven boys, who could not swim when they went to camp, went home happy because they had learned how. The swimmers, who swam in safety fees were awarded buttons. Warner Cleveland, Francis Colman, Clifford Melander, Norman Nelson, Harry Strong, Herbert Berg and Robert Berkeman won this distinction. Herbert Berg won the honor of being the first boy at camp to learn, and was presented with a Camp Miller banner in connection with the swimming periods, instruction was given in how to rescue the drowning, methods of release and rescue.

Leaders' buttons were awarded Stanley Lamb, Lester Steurwald and Oliver Maggard. To win that honor they had to be able to swim 100 yards, diving properly, and bring up objects from ten feet of water, swim fifty yards on the back and teach some boy to swim fifty feet. To win a swimmer's button campers had to swim 300 yards, dive from a ten-foot standard and swim on the back twenty-five yards. This honor went to Edward Pearson, Lester Steurwald, Stanley Lamb, Ray Brenton, Harry Stoker, Stewart Thompson, Harvey Owens, James Wahl, Lloyd Nyberg, Erling Solahl, William Mooney, Harold Hein, Thomas Gibson, Arthur Greenlaw, Donaldson Annand, Marshall Peterson, John Wengsten, Harold McCormick and Edward Copeland. Four Win Life-Savers' Medals.

 Only four boys won the life-saver's medal: Arthur Greenlaw, William Mooney, John Wengsten and Lloyd Nyberg. To win a life-saver's medal these boys had to dive into seven feet of water and bring up an object weighing five pounds; swim 200 yards, 100 yards on the back, not using hands, and 100 yards by any other stroke; demonstrate on land five methods of release, two methods of release in water, Schafer method of resuscitation, and rescue and tow a person ten yards, using two holds and two strokes. Harvey Burg won the honor for catching the largest fish; it measured thirty-five inches.

The Boys' Department Camp orchestra was a big feature, and each member was awarded the unknown point and received a Y. M. C. A. tie clasp. The members of the orchestra were Fred Campbell, Erling Solahl, William Mooney, Gunner Lannan, Edward Cope-land and J. R. Batchelor. The quartet championship was won in the intermediate department by Donaldson Annand, and the senior by John Nelmever; the doubles by Frank Bridgeman and Lloyd Nyberg. The junior championship in athletics was won by Robert Currie; intermediate championship, Robert Berkeman, and senior, Edward Pearson.

The camp received gifts from The Duluth Herald, The News Tribune, American Carbolite company, Shredded Wheat company, Mrs. J. H. Barnes, Mrs. M. J. Forbes, Mrs. Ward Ames, Fenton Duby company, Watson S. Moore, H. P. Sylvard, A. C. Plumb and Bridgeman-Russell company.

WESTERN UNION NIGHT LETTER

Received at 815 Tower Ave., Superior Wis.
 2 Z. Q. 198. N. L.

Indianapolis, Ind., August 27th-28th, 1914.

The New Era Business College,
 Superior, Wisconsin.

In world's shorthand championship contest, Atlantic City, yesterday, auspices National Shorthand Reporters' Association, Fannie Schoenfeld, seventeen year old stenotypist, won one hundred fifty word test, ninety-nine nine-tenths accuracy, establishing new world's record. First eight positions to stenotypists. Mabell Head, eighteen year old stenotypist won one hundred seventy-five word test, ninety-eight nine-tenths accuracy. First five positions to stenotypists. No shorthanders qualified. Fannie Schoenfeld won two hundred word test, ninety-nine three-tenths accuracy, establishing new world's record. Clem Boling, eighteen year old stenotypist, won two hundred twenty word test, ninety-seven four-tenths accuracy, establishing new world's record; first and third places to stenotypists. Behrin only shorthander to qualify. All these young stenotypists began study of stenotypy less than two years ago. Notwithstanding their youth and inexperience, they decisively defeated such world's champions and stars as Behrin, three times champion; Carson, Nellie Wood, Rasom, Pendell, and many others, all with seven to twenty years' court reporting experience. Result is sweeping victory for stenotypy, and should silence and convince skeptics forever, through use of stenotypy. These mere children have become experts and world's champions. Tell your newspapers, thousands of stenographers, parents and business men vitally interested.

THE STENOTYPE COMPANY.
 8:15 a. m.

Stenotypy is enthusiastically taught in the New Era Business College, Superior, Wis., the Stenotype representative of the Northwest, where more than 200 are pursuing the course. New class organized Monday, August 31.

Olympic and Adriatic Bring Refugees Home From Europe.

Americans Are Reported in Sore Need at Ghent, Belgium.

New York, Aug. 28.—Three thousand and one Americans reached New York today from England aboard the White Star liners Olympic and Adriatic, the latter carrying an armament of four 6-inch rifles mounted, two on her bow and two on her stern, the Olympic 1,772. Nearly all were Americans and hundreds made the voyage as steerage passengers.

Both ships made the trip without mishap, although the latter was boarded the Adriatic were badly scared by the appearance of a vessel which they mistook to be a hostile war ship, but later found to be the French liner France.

It is said the Adriatic will go with little delay from here to Halifax to help carry Canadian volunteers across the sea. The Adriatic's batteries consist of four six-inch rifles, placed in position at Liverpool.

Only once on the trip across the Atlantic did her officers sight a vessel which caused them concern. This was on Aug. 27, and the vessel was later found to be the French liner France, which was New York, and had her suspicions of the Adriatic, for she was carrying an armament of four 6-inch rifles mounted, two on her bow and two on her stern, the Olympic 1,772. PLEASSED WITH NEW PAVEMENT

Commissioners Believe City Did Good Work on Point.

Mayor Prince, Commissioners Murchison and Hickson, City Engineer Wilson and City Attorney Clapp yesterday afternoon looked over the concrete paving which was recently laid on Lake avenue south from the canal to Twelfth street. They said that they were favorably impressed by its appearance and expressed the belief that it would prove satisfactory in wearing quality. The job was done by the division of public works under the supervision of Engineer Wilson.

They said that Contractor D. H. Clough is making good headway with the paving of South First avenue east from the N. P. right-of-way to Suptin street and Suptin street from First avenue to Lake avenue.

The officials also visited Seventh street where it joins the boulevard, where condemnation proceedings were instituted by the old council for a right-of-way, but never completed. Several minor matters were taken up before returning to the city hall.

Monday has been set aside by the Salvation Army as a day of prayer all over the world for peace. They will offer up their prayers for Divine aid in stopping the citizens of warring nations from slaughtering each other.

A Little Money and a Little Courage

Telephone Girl Tells of Attack on French Town.

Paris, Aug. 29, 12:10 p. m.—According to information which has reached Paris the little village of Etain, near Longwy, France, has been subjected to two bombardments by the Germans one on Monday of this week, the other Tuesday.

The second bombardment set the town on fire and many people are said to have perished in the flames. The telephone service of Etain was left in the hands of a young girl who stuck to her post while shells were bursting all around the telephone office and to give an account of what was going on.

A number of posts at Verdun were listening to a message being sent by this girl when suddenly she interrupted her communication to say: "A bomb has just fallen in this office."

This ended the conversation.

ASKS MORE TIME FOR PRIZE COURT CLAIMS

American Consul General Says Eight Days Is Too Short.

London, Aug. 29, 1:35 p. m.—Robert P. Skinner, the American consul general in London, today appealed to the prize court to extend the period of time in which to make appearance before it, for the benefit of American claimants.

This period of time is now only eight days after the issue of the prize writ. He finds it difficult to inform, in so brief a period, the American owners of millions of dollars worth of goods seized on German ships.

MINES SINK BOATS LOOKING FOR MINES.

London, Aug. 29, 4:10 p. m.—The official bureau of information has announced that two trawlers sweeping for mines, have been sunk by mines.

Five members of the crews of the trawlers are missing and eight others received injuries.

PEDDLER LEFT $1,500 ESTATE

When Jacob Skrljanic, 29, whose vocation was that of a jewelry peddler and whose home was wherever he hung his hat, died on May 1, last, in a lumber camp near Ely, he left an estate worth $1,500.

All of Skrljanic's worldly wealth was found in the pack which he carried with him from camp to camp. It consisted of a jewelry stock of watches, stippling, cuff links and other trinkets.

BIG PICNIC LABOR DAY

Program Plans Reported to Duluth Trades Assembly.

McEwen Will Be the Orator; Stores Will Be Closed.

The announcement of full details of the Labor day program and the recording of the cooks' local into the Duluth Federated Trades' assembly were the main features of the meeting of that body last night at Kalamazoo hall.

The meeting was one of the largest ever held by the assembly. Three delegates from the cooks' local were present and signed papers which affiliate the new branch with the main body.

Respects on the big picnic to be held at the new branch on Labor day, Sept. 7, were made by the committee of the assembly and the pavilion association. The plans provide for one of the finest outings ever held in the city.

The athletic events will begin at 1 p. m. There will be a use-of-war races and weight throwing contests. Dancing will begin at the pavilion at 2 p. m., and another dance program will be given in the evening.

The chief address will be given at 3 o'clock by William B. McEwen, postmaster of Duluth, and formerly secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor. Mr. McEwen is no longer an official of the federation, he is still taking an active interest in labor matters.

The Third Regiment band will give a musical program between 4 and 6 o'clock.

In order that working people of all lines may be present at the picnic virtually all the stores and business places will be closed for the day, according to the plans.

After being adjudged guilty of contributing to the dependency of two of his children, Virginia was this morning sentenced by Judge Engen of the juvenile court to ninety days at the county and city work farm.

The sentence, however, was suspended for thirty days with the condition that within the next month, Fraser pay $30 to the Children's Home, which institution he is indebted in the sum of $88 for the care of his two sons, Robert, 10, and Charles, 7. Both were wards of the state by the court today.

Fraser and his wife separated more than a year ago. Since that time she has been living in Minneapolis where she is supporting the youngest of three children. The other two were placed in the Children's Home in Duluth with the understanding that Fraser pay the institution for their maintenance.

NO NON-RESIDENTS IN COLORADO MINES.

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 29.—Heavy rains at Healdton aided in bringing under control the fire which started late Thursday in the old Healdton mine. The burning oil destroyed practically the entire mine within an area of two square miles. The loss is estimated at $400,000 with about $150,000 insurance.

London, Aug. 29, 1:45 p. m.—The American embassy up to the present has been unable to get into communication with certain Americans marooned in Ghent, Belgium, who are in need of money.

News of the plight of these travelers reached London through the state department at Washington which received its information from the American consul at Ghent, who succeeded in making his way to Antwerp.

The embassy is unable to get into communication with either Antwerp or Ghent.

SPANISH MISSION DESIGN

While these houses are very abundant in Florida, very few of them have been erected in the Northern states. There is apparently no reason for this unless it is due to the fact that as a general thing architects are not familiar with the type of house this represents. The rooms are all large and well lighted and the large, spacious porches add to the building a large amount of attractiveness and comfort. The first floor is finished in birch with maple floors. The second floor is yellow pine with maple floors. The house would cost to build in Duluth about $12,000.

Duluth and Winnipeg Have Even Chance in Grim Battle for Northern League Pennant---Fielding H. Yost Faces Greatest Task of His Gridiron Career in Game With Harvard---News and Comment at Home and Abroad.

BY BRUCE.
WHO will win the pennant, Duluth or Winnipeg? The answer runs for Sweeney--no one seems to know. Several fortune tellers have booted the chance to become famous by answering correctly. If you knew who is going to win, and would venture forth with an eager desire for financial gain, you could take three heaping teaspoons of sugar in your morning coffee and not worry over the high cost of living.

We have thirteen games yet to play. Winnipeg has eleven, unless the Peggers have some postponed games to play off. Duluth has four pitchers that must bear the burden of the remaining games. The pestiferous Peggers have five twirlers to work unfurling through to the end of the season.

Ezell is again going at top speed, as was shown by the two masterful exhibitions he twirled against Wright. Cunningham is right and so is Withers. If Blanche holds the form he exhibited on the last home stand, the chance for the flag is an even one.

After Superior we go to Fort William and then face Virginia on the home grounds for the final four games of the season. Winnipeg is at Fort William. After Fort William Virginia goes to the Peg for four games and then Col. Unglaub and his Uhlans will make the last stand of the season against the Peggers on the open lot at Winnipeg.

Looking at the situation from all corrugated sides, you can take your choice—it has us baffled, gasping for breath and jumping sideways. It is some race—very, some race, and the sign that unfurls the bunting next season at the head of its masthead, can teach in content with the knowledge that the flag was strenuously earned.

It may gloriously remain for the last game of the last day to decide the race. Let us hope so—excitement is the life of trade, and while the cows and chickens have their proper places in the regulation of the high cost of living, let us repeat with the song writer, that "This is the Life."

Why Do They Want It?

READING that Northfield college is planning a fine new athletic stadium, and then reviewing the athletic record of that college, we immediately become inquisitive as to the need thereof.

Would you think it charitable to give a $5,000 touring car to a janitor with a large family?

Just Suppose He Had!

NOW that Fielder Jones has leaped blithely into the limelight, we again begin to peal moral literary hark off the family tree of the newly made manager of the St. Louis Federal league team.

It is stated that Fielder is one of the best whist players in the country; that he is an expert chess player; that any game requiring skill and alert mental concentration, is well played by this genius of the baseball diamond.

One newspaper man taught Jones a game that he considered himself an adept at. After playing the game a couple of times Jones defeated the scribe with unvarying regularity.

It is suggested that had the former famous leader of the White Sox taken up the game of chess when young, he might have been the champion of the world. Those who live in the glories of the past will possibly find it a strange and mysterious deity of chance that Fielder Jones never heard of chess when he was approaching the mental 300 class.

The Prosperous Stockholders?

AT a game the other day between the New Britain and Waterbury teams of the Eastern association, just four fans paid their way into the park. It would seem that stockholders of New Haven railroad are not the only baltic investors in the market.

He Should Be Guarded Well.

A NEW JERSEY man fainted away with excitement at a bowling game. If his life is heavily insured his prospective heirs might take him to a championship football game.

As We Understand It.

ACCORDING to all reports France should be able to turn out some great Marathon runners for the next Olympic games. See war news.

This Is Quite Some Town.

BAY CITY of the South Michigan league is adjudged so tough by the president of the league that a game scheduled for there was called off. Where has Bowery Collins disappeared to?

Boston Is Conservative.

BACK in the revolutionary days of Boston was accounted one of the hell-devils of spirit and recklessness. Lamp back to the Boston tea party, the fiery incidents of Faneuil hall and the dogged gang fighting of Bunker hill. Boston led the war league in the revolutionary days. Then came beans as a solid and unvaried bill of fare and Hank Thoreau and later on Henry James as the mental diet, and the people of Boston dropped slowly but gradually into the smooth and unemotional rut of conservatism. The other day a fan of Boston offered to bet $15 to $20 that the Boston Braves would win the pennant. No wonder they are thinking of razing Faneuil hall.

Yost and the Titanic Task.

THIS season Fielding H. Yost will face the most prodigious task of all his scintillating years at Michigan. The glory of the maize and blue is to the British government will not place him in the airship fleet.

Everything Is Lovely.

THE soldiers of the Dominion are drilling daily on the grounds of the Montreal International league baseball park. No home runs have been reported.

From Where You Look.

ONE of the Chicago papers declares that Mike Gibbons doesn't care for money. A professor of the University of Chicago said the same thing about John D. Rockefeller.

Fine Municipal Pride.

The city fathers of Venice, Cal., have informed the owner of the baseball team that his park will not be assessed for taxation, should his team win the pennant.

The city commission of Superior might make the same promise, as they would not be taking any chances in the least.

Capt. Richards Makes High Score at Seagirt Shoot.

Seagirt, N. J., Aug. 29.—Shooting an aggregate of 145 out of a possible 160 on the 600, 900 and 1,200-yard ranges Capt. W. H. Richards of the Winchester Rifle and Gun club won the big Nevada trophy match yesterday afternoon over a field of 76. Capt. Charles Silverstone, New Jersey, was second with 137 and Corporal James F. Connelley of the marine corps, third with 142. The officers and inspectors' match was won by Capt. K. K. Casey of Pennsylvania, who ran up 96. Foster S. Lund and William H. Ford of the marine corps, shooting together on the New Jersey two-men team match, carried the event with a total of 189.

SENTIMENT AGAINST CINCINNATI OWNER

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 29.—The lawn tennis championship tournament narrowed yesterday to San Francisco and Philadelphia with the titleholder, M. F. McLaughlin, still in the running and other three victors in the day's matches in the sixth round of the all-comers' tournament were E. F. Fottrell of San Francisco and R. Norris Williams II and William J. Clothier of Philadelphia.

Fottrell will meet Williams and Clothier will play McLaughlin in the semi-finals today. Clothier fell before the champion in straight sets in the all-comers' play last year, and as Williams last night was a 3 to 2 favorite over Fottrell, many followers of the game predicted that the finale this year would be a repetition of those of 1913, when McLaughlin found Williams in the sixth round of the all-comers' tournament and R. Norris Williams II and William J. Clothier of Philadelphia.

The feature match yesterday, that between Williams and his Davis cup teammate, Carl Behr, was disappointing. After Behr's rally and victory over Murray Thursday, a long and close contest with Williams was looked for, but Behr proved unusually erratic, especially in the first two sets.

In order to obtain some much-needed practice, McLaughlin allowed C. J. Griffin, also from the coast, to take a set in their contest on an obscure court. Griffin, however, the strongest opponent McLaughlin has met so far in the tournament, and the contest permitted the match to run well into the fourth set before he called it halt. It was the second time McLaughlin has lost a set since he came East in the spring.

In the other two matches Clothier put out Wallace P. Johnson of his own city in straight sets, while Fottrell had little difficulty in eliminating G. F. Touchard of New York. California's aspirations for a clean sweep of all titles, as in 1912, received a bad jolt in the afternoon when E. R. McCormick, the Southern California team in the National league and also sitting on the National commission has become offensive to some of the men in baseball. Therefore it is said that change in the present commission and that in that event Garry Herrmann is the one likely to go.

ST. PAUL MAY LOSE TEAM

President Lennon Turns Over Club on 90-Day Option.

May Accept Out-of-Town Offer; Deficit for This Year.

St. Paul, Aug. 29.—John W. Norton, a local realty man, yesterday secured a 90-day option on the St. Paul American Association baseball club from President George E. Lennon. If at the end of that time Mr. Norton has not found a local purchaser for the club, Mr. Lennon said he would accept an offer he has received, which contemplates removing the club to another city.

Mr. Lennon would not say what out-of-town men had approached him with an offer for the club, but it is understood the consideration involved in the proposal is slightly in excess of $100,000 for the franchise and players.

For this year's deficit Mr. Norton said he would not be able to expect any difficulty in securing a local purchaser. The club had lost money this season, he said, but in previous years had returned a good profit.

Blancke Whiffs Sixteen Batters and Sox Win 5 to 2.

Benton Is in Good Form and Game Goes Ten Rounds.

While the Duluth White Sox were trouncing Superior yesterday in ten rounds to the tune of 5 to 2, Fort William was defeating Winnipeg and today the O'Brien crowd is one full game ahead of the Canadians.

Yesterday was booster day on the other side of the bay and to make the affair one grand success Kid Taylor called his star heavier into action and Benton was effective enough to make the Sox travel ten rounds.

Henry Clay Blancke held the enemy to five hits and the rushing Sox gathered twelve blows off the delivery of Benton. Brackett and Croake divided an even half dozen hits and Blancke and Ford coming with the third run of the round. Blancke was invincible in the final half of the round and the villagers failed to threaten.

The final frame Brackett opened with a double and was nipped on the plate attempting to score on the infield offering of Bond. Croake had sacrificed and Benton had hit the throw to first, and with Croake and Bond on the bases Daddy Ford hit a beauty to right and both runners crossed. O'Brien hit and Ford coming with the third run of the round. Blancke was invincible in the final half of the round and the villagers failed to threaten.

Looking at the situation from all corrugated sides, you can take your choice—it has us baffled, gasping for breath and jumping sideways. It is some race—verily, some race, and the team that unturls the bunting next season at the head of its masthead, can sigh in content with the knowledge that the flag was strenuously earned.

It may gloriously remain for the last game of the last day to decide the race. Let us hope so—excitement is the life of trade, and while the cows and chickens have their proper places in the regulation of the high cost of living, let us repeat with the song writer, "This is the Life."

Why Do They Want It?

READING that Northfield college is planning a fine new athletic stadium, and then reviewing the athletic record of that college, we immediately become inquisitive as to the need thereof.

Would you think it charitable to give a $5,000 touring car to a janitor with a large family?

Just Suppose He Had!

NOW that Fielder Jones has leaped blithely into the limelight, we again begin to peal more literary bark off the family tree of the newly made manager of the St. Louis Federal league team.

It is stated that Fielder is one of the best whist players in the country; that he is an expert chess player; that any game requiring skill and alert mental concentration, is well played by this genius of the baseball diamond.

One newspaper man thought Jones a game that he considered himself an adept at. After playing the game a couple of times Jones defeated the scribe with unvarying regularity.

It is suggested that had the former famous leader of the White Sox taken up the game of chess when young, he might have been the champion of the world. Those who live in the glories of the past will possibly thank the strange and mysterious deity of chance that Fielder Jones never heard of chess when he was approaching the mental 3000 class.

Lamp back to the Boston tea party, the fiery incidents of Bunker Hill and the dogged gang fighting of Bunker Hill. Boston led the war league in the revolutionary days. Then came beans as a solid and unvaried bill of fare and Hank Thoreau and later on Henry James as the mental diet, and the people of Boston dropped slowly but gradually into the smooth and unemotional rut of conservatism. The other day a fan of Boston offered to bet $15 to $200 that the Boston Braves would win the pennant. No wonder they are thinking of razing Faneuil hall.

Richards of the Winchester Rifle and Gun club won the big Nevada trophy match yesterday afternoon over a field of 75. Capt. Charles Silverstone, New Jersey, was second with 143 and Corporal James F. Coppedge of the marine corps, third with 142. The officers' match was won by Capt. K. V. Casey of Pennsylvania, who ran up 147. Peter S. Lund and William H. Ford of the marine corps, shooting together on the New Jersey two-men team match, carried the event with a total of 189.

SENTIMENT AGAINST CINCINNATI OWNER

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 29.—The lawn tennis championship tournament narrowed yesterday to San Francisco and Philadelphia, with the titleholder, M. F. McLaughlin, still in the running and an almost prohibitive favorite.

The other three victors in the day's matches in the sixth round of the all-comers' tournament were E. F. Fottrell of San Francisco and W. Norris Williams of Philadelphia. W. C. Clothier of Philadelphia.

Fottrell will meet Williams and Clothier will play McLaughlin in the semi-finals today. Clothier fell before the champion in straight sets in the all-comers' play last year, and as Williams last night was a 3 to 2 favorite over Fottrell, many followers of the game predicted that the finals this year would be a repetition of those of 1913 when McLaughlin found Williams his only opponent for the title, and defeated him three sets to one.

The feature match yesterday, that between Williams and his Davis cup teammate, Carl Behr, was disappointing. After Behr's rally and victory over Murray Thursday, a long and close contest with Williams was looked for, but Behr proved unusually erratic, especially in the first two sets. In order to obtain some much-needed practice, McLaughlin allowed C. J. Griffin, also from the coast, to take a set in the contest on an obscure court. Griffin proved the strongest opponent McLaughlin has met so far in the tournament, and the champion permitted the match to fall well into the fourth set before he called a halt. It was the second time McLaughlin has lost a set since he came East in the spring.

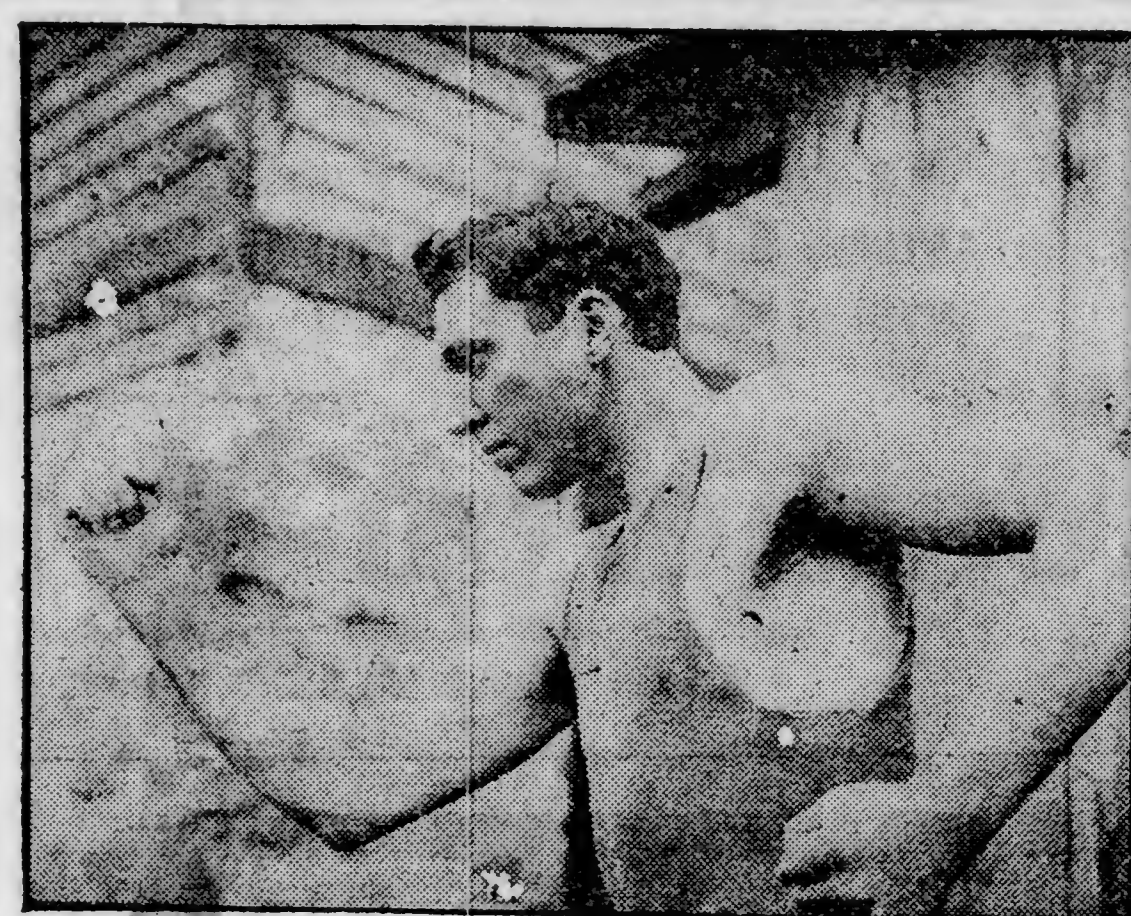

In the other two matches Clothier put out Wallace F. Johnson of his own city in straight sets, while Fottrell had little difficulty in eliminating G. N. Touchard of New York. California's aspirations for a clean sweep of all titles, as in 1912 received a bad jolt in the afternoon when E. R. McCormick, the Southern California

President Lennon Turns Over Club on 90-Day Option.

May Accept Out-of-Town Offer; Deficit for This Year.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 29.—John W. Norton, a local realty man, yesterday secured a 90-day option on the St. Paul American Association Baseball club from President George E. Lennon. If at the end of that time Mr. Norton has not found a local purchaser for the club, Mr. Lennon said he would accept an offer he has received, which contemplates removing the club to another city.

Mr. Norton would not say what out-of-town men had approached him with an offer for the club, but it is understood the consideration involved in the proposal is slightly in excess of $100,000 for the franchise and players. Mr. Norton said tonight he did not expect any difficulty in securing a local purchaser. The club had lost money this season, he said, but in previous years had returned a good profit. For this year's deficit Mr. Norton blamed the poor showing of the team which has been in the last position of the association race almost the entire season. Good baseball, Mr. Norton said, would renew the loyalty of the St. Paul fans and make the club a satisfactory financial undertaking.

President Lennon's reason for disposing of his baseball interests is that his other interests take up all his time. If a local purchaser is forthcoming within the ninety days, Mr. Lennon says the club is certain to leave the city, as he has fully decided to get out of baseball.

EAGLELAND

AN INTERESTING item of theatrical news is the fact that Willard Mack has been placed under contract for five years to write for A. H. Woods.

Mack's rather picturesque career is well known to Duluth theatergoers. His friends here always felt that he had unusual talent both as an actor and a playwright. He has written a number of one-act plays, one of which was seen here on the Orpheum circuit, and on another occasion he presented several at the Lyceum theater. His play, "In Wyoming," had a successful tour under the auspices of two Duluth producers, J. L. Morrissey and Harry Pierce. His work has never lacked action. His friends here criticized it chiefly on the grounds of an excess of profanity and a deficiency in finish, but under the spur of a contract for five years he may settle down to earnest work and yet make a name for himself among playwrights. The first work he will do will be to make over his one-act play, "Kick In," into a three-act drama for immediate production. Mack used this one-act play in vaudeville for two seasons.

THEATRICAL affairs are in a rather unsettled state at the opening of the new season. J. G. Pease, the general manager for Tully & Buckland, producers of "Omar the Tentmaker," is here during the week, and he reports that there is a feeling of uncertainty caused by the fact that many foreign actors are being offered engagements in America because of it, and the producers are pursuing a "watchful waiting" program.

Duluth is the liveliest city theatrically that I have seen this season," said Mr. Pease. "This city had a rather black eye with producers for two or three years, but it is getting back its old reputation. In the old days Duluth was known as one of the best 'stands' in the United States, and I believe it will have its old reputation back before this season is ended. All of our theaters here appear to be doing well, and you have plenty of them for a city this size. The theatrical business is a good barometer of general business, and that rule applies in your case, Duluth must be about the most prosperous city in the country today."

Merrill B. Sands, who made Duluth his home a few years ago, being convinced of an advertising agency, has taken a wife from the stage. She was Miss Margaret Henry, last season with "The Beauty Shop." Mr. Sands is now a partner in a New York advertising agency.

An interesting experiment is being tried by Walter Baldwin of the Baldwin Players. It is the policy of the visiting stars here for short, special engagements. During the fall and winter, when a play is to be produced that requires a larger cast than usual, or actor or actress of some special type, Mr. Baldwin plans to secure, if possible, the services of the stars of the stage. There will be a case in point in "The Littlest Rebel" which will be played by the Baldwin Players in the original production.

This is reverting in part to the old stock plan of many years ago, when the stars alone traveled. In these days famous stars would visit a city, play their repertoire of four or five plays with the assistance of the local stock company, and journey to the next city. The weakness of the old system was that the local companies were sacrificed to the stars, and Mr. Baldwin does not propose to make this mistake. The present company, which has been touring the fall and winter, will be retained throughout the season, with the exception of the few stars who are needed to strengthen it. It is one of the few stock companies in America that is making money.

Vaudeville managers, spurred on by competition which is keener than ever this season, have a habit of going to the world for talent and novelties. A circuit like the Orpheum, for example, has agents in every big city in Europe, looking for acts. These acts are generally booked in the spring and early summer, and therefore virtually all of America this fall have already been booked. But no people in the United States are more vitally interested in the vaudeville performers. This was strikingly illustrated at the Orpheum this week, when one bill contained German, Russian, Japanese and English performers, and with all that, and her sister had escaped just before the war. Three German acrobats and a German singer came over in the Vaterland the last big boat to sail.

But with all the foreign acts, there are already available, and with all American acts about returning, vaudeville should not suffer during the coming season.

Few "show people" have a better fund of reminiscences than Ed R. Salter, manager of the New Grand theater. The length of his experience is rather out of proportion to his age, for he started as a show boy in the first season on the road he was manager of a barn-storming troupe, in which the "artist" did not stipulate that Pullman cars were a necessary adjunct to their dignity. They were content to travel behind a strong pair of mules or some oxen.

"One night we landed in Berona," said Mr. Salter. "In the morning I sallied forth to find the 'temple of art,' and it was not encouraging. I met an old Southern planter, who accosted me about as follows: 'Be ye all one of the show people?' I said I was, and asked him what our prospects were. 'Well, I don't know, Mr. Salter,' he said, 'the last troupe we all had in here was a nigger with a trained bear. The nigger got full o' moonshine whiskey and the bear run away, and ever since then our town folks have been kinder soured on show troupes.'"

SCENE FROM "THE LITTLEST REBEL," Presented By the Baldwin Players All Next Week at the Lyceum.

WOLF FILM AT REX.

Famous Drama of the North Woods to Be Shown on Screen.

The three-part feature, "The Lion's Den," which will be at the Rex Sunday, is far in advance of the times, being entirely colored by the electric natural process, a process that is jealously guarded by the makers.

A world love story and fine animals are in the big scenes of the story of "The Lion's Den." There is plenty of good comedy, both the dry, witty kind that tickles one long after seeing it, and the spontaneous sort that brings a hearty laugh. "The Wolf," to be shown at the Rex Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, was certainly well named, and the wolf earned the title. When Jules Beaubien's father died, the young man found himself heir to the stout old mansion at Montreal and a big fortune, which the family had made in lumber in the great Canada forests. The father on his deathbed confessed that twenty years before he met a square of the Ojibway tribe, and that a girl was born. She was now in the Niipissing country with a French Canadian family. Old Beaubien's last words to his son exacted a promise that the boy would find his half sister, educate her and care for her. From the time young Beaubien begins his search for the girl, the broad Indian country the tale brims with adventure, and then hate enters into the search with McDonald, the Wolf. The ruse laughs in young Beaubien's face, admits he had a wife in America and his boasts of his power over women and in his bravado tells of an affair with a little half-breed girl up in the Niipissing country. It was the story of Annetta, Jules' half sister. The rest of the story is better pictured than told.

NOTED ACTOR COMING.

Guy Bates Post as "Omar" Will Appear at Lyceum.

Not in many seasons has the stage been graced with a more attractive and successful romantic drama than "Omar, the Tentmaker," the spectacle production of "Omar, the Tentmaker," has engaged a notable cast, including Louise Dresser, Burr McIntosh, Jane Grey and Harry C. Browne. In the role of the great old Southern Col. Blossom, Mr. McIntosh makes his return to the stage after a long absence, chiefly spent in Oriental travel.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE FOR DULUTH THEATERS

MURIEL COLE AS "LITTLEST REBEL"

Famous Little Actress Will Appear With Baldwin Players.

"The Littlest Rebel," one of the greatest war dramas of the century will be presented by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum theater commencing with a matinee tomorrow.

"The Littlest Rebel" will be presented in an elaborate manner having been in preparation for weeks. Of special interest will be the appearance of little Muriel Cole, the famous child actress, who will be seen in the role of "Virgie," the littlest rebel.

Miss Cole has been brought here especially for this production and will appear in her own little way against the forces of the Confederacy.

The Minneapolis Tribune had this to say of "The Littlest Rebel," and Muriel Cole as "Virgie": "The production was presented in that city during the long series of American plays in which the Civil war forms the background. It is a play of the type of Edward Pease is unique. There is no love story, no romance of Northern blue coat and Southern rebel, no balancing between the horns of the love-or-duty dilemma. Other playwrights have torn the hair out of their heads to get a story in gray and brought their togetherness of the forces of the Confederacy.

"But Mr. Pease, who demonstrated the Prince Chap his power at juvenile characterization, has chosen to tell the story of a sweet little maid, hedged closely by the forces of the Confederacy and hardships in the closing days of the war. To rescue this little maid her desperate rebel scout of a father, and a Yankee colonel, who has his own little girl at home to think of, join hands. The lapse whereby sentiment gets the better of the officers of war eventually lands both officers under sentence of death—one for treason and the other for acting as a spy.

To Gen. Grant's tent, where their love is considered, comes the little maid seeking her Daddy and her beloved Yankee. Questioned by wittily clever rebels, she unites sweet simplicity of the truth that "It is a pathetic tale well told, losing nothing of its emotional appeal or its grim undertone of real war."

William H. Crane is now in London, but will be back in ample time to begin his scheduled tour to the Pacific coast under the name of the Pacific Coast, with Thos. W. Ross and a special cast, including Miss Amelia Bingham in "The New Heavens." Crane will be seen in his original role, Old Nick of the Street, and Ross will appear as Bertie, the Lamb, played last season by Fairbanks.

Pictorially, the production establishes a new standard in scenic embellishment, the many elaborate scenes having been designed by Mr. Tully himself, in association with Will Ford Burdland. Especially beautiful in silver moonlight that opens the play, while for realistic detail and the rose-bowered garden, it is doubtful if the scene representing the huddled bazaar in the ancient city of Nishapur has ever been excelled.

The company surrounding Mr. Post is of unusual distinction, and players and production come intact from their triumphant run on Broadway.

Richard Walton Tully, author of "Omar the Tentmaker," in which Guy Bates Post Will Appear at the Lyceum for Three Days Beginning Sept. 7.

WHITE AND JASON AT THE ORPHEUM

Famous Dance Team Will Headline New Bill Opening Sunday.

No act in vaudeville is more popular than a song and dance act, when it is presented by clever performers, and is now and up to date.

The act which presented last season by Harry B. Fox and Yancy Dolly are occasionally headlined, and among the few acts of this type to achieve headline honors on the Orpheum circuit is the act of White and Jason, the Minneapolis last week, and quite captured the audiences there, in spite of the fact that they were upon a rather "difficult" by performers.

White and Jason will headline the bill for the second week at the Orpheum. They are heralded as one of the cleverest and most original of singers and dancers in vaudeville.

Broadway and George White have been closely associated for several seasons. Mr. White's dancing has been a member of the famous vaudeville team of White and Ryan. This team was engaged by Charles B. Dillingham for a feature with "The Echo" which had long run at the Globe theater. The team then dissolved, and Mr. White entered vaudeville again with Minerva Coverdale as a partner. This team was featured in the "Red Widow" by the Duluth Harris. Later Mr. White became the principal dancer at the Winter Garden. After his engagement there he formed his present partnership with a Regular Orpheum patron, will re-member Claude Golden, the Australian, who has been a member of the team since the beginning of the season.

Regular Orpheum patrons will receive a pack of playing cards provided one of the most talked of acts seen at the theater last season. It will return next week with a new assortment of tricks. The new pack is to be a pack of cards into halves and then into quarters, and locate the pieces of the cards called Golden. It is a comedian as well as being amazingly dexterous with cards, and he keeps his audience amused as well as mystified.

Lancelotti, Lucier and company have an act which they call "Heaps of Hilarity" and the sole purpose of it is to make the audience laugh. They refine their fun making to any particular form of comedy, and the act can hardly be classified under any of the ordinary vaudeville terms.

Extensive vaudeville acts are the stock in trade of Harry Breen, who will be on next week's bill. He is known as the "rapid fire song writer" and has written a dozen or more of the popular songs of the day, but is at his best in his offhand verses, which he composes as he sings. Insignificant incidents during his singing form the subject matter for his songs. His act is always a comedy as well as a song.

Les Salvagies are two Parisian dancers who will appear on the new bill. These two young women have one of the most strikingly costumed acts in vaudeville this season. It is known as the "rapid fire song writer" and has written a dozen or more of the popular songs of the day, but is at his best in his offhand verses, which he composes as he sings. Insignificant incidents during his singing form the subject matter for his songs. His act is always a comedy as well as a song.

Beginning Sunday the Orpheum will have a new motion picture service, and something unique. It will be called "The Orpheum Travel Weekly." These pictures will be exclusive to Orpheum theaters, and they have traveled before been shown in America. Each reel will be from 800 to 1,100 feet long, and will contain from 10 to 15 subjects. They will depict scenes from all parts of the globe, and the interest is both to the eye and to the mind. The first act of pictures will show the fishermen of England and the people and customs of the southern Trol in Austria, the everyday life of the inhabitants of Mexico, the people around the picturesque city of Hoom in Holland and the wonderful country and people of the Nile.

During the season the regular patrons of the Orpheum will have seen almost every race of people on the face of the globe, and explored almost as many places as could be visited in a lifetime.

For the week of Sept. 6, an excellent bill is promised with the following acts: Gertrude Conlan and company in a new one-act play; Theodore Tandy, the famous conductor and his symphony orchestra; Swan and Mack with their company in a black-face burlesque act; Eunice Burdman and Charles Irwin; Grace Mack and John Tully in song and dance; the Allen Trio, and Adair and Adair in a comedy bar act.

GLASSY VARIETY BILL AT GRAND

Manager Salter Offers New Program Opening Sunday Night.

With the phenomenal record of hardly yet having had a vacant seat to be disposed of between 12 noon and 11 o'clock at night, "The Baby Grand" has rightfully come into its own.

The program of clever, vaudeville variety will be entertained—with all the elements which go to make up a program of clever, vaudeville variety and specialties.

Stanfield, Hall and Lorraine will present a laughable farbo comedy entitled, "Madam Dippy." The farce is said to appeal especially to those who wish to have a good laugh and then not be too critical as to the cause of the hilarity. All three people are well-known farceurs who have often played this city with high-class attractions. One who is said to be a vaudeville favorite at the court of amusement of King George of England, Dave Rafael, and who will make his initial appearance here, carries his own company, scenery and electrical effects in ventriloquist production called "Down on the Farm."

The Sisters Banvard are European novelty artists. They appear in a sensational aerial performance that for both daring and beauty is said never to have been equaled in America. What is said to be vaudeville's daintiest girls, those animated stoppers and fine singers, Margaret Braun and sister, will be seen and heard in their own classy style.

The Grandescene will show four reels of photo plays, "The Primitive Inland," "Kalem," "Two Men Who Waited," "Essanay," "Some Times It Works," "Lubin," and "One-Round tear a pack of cards into halves and then into quarters, and locate the pieces of the cards called Golden. It is a comedian as well as being amazingly dexterous with cards, and he keeps his audience amused as well as mystified.

The merry-go-round, "Bumps-de-

Bumps" slide, and the swings in the playground of the New Grand have caught the fancy of the Duluth youngsters, while the nursery has been equally well liked by the mothers.

An excellent vaudeville show closes at the New Grand tonight. It includes the Eleven Southern Maids in a repertoire of choice ballads and southern melodies, Montrose and Sardell, acrobats, trick and fancy bicycle riders, as well as song and dance artists. Carrie Starr, a robust singing comedienne, and Calis Brothers, exceptionally clever dancers, complete the vaudeville contingent while the grandiose exhibits four good reels of photo play. The performances are continuous from 12 o'clock noon until 11 p. m. and the SUNBEAM

The management of the Sunbeam theater has secured "The Weakling," the third feature of the slice Joyce series, for its patrons. It will be shown tomorrow afternoon and evening. In addition, the management has secured the famous Kalem players as Tom Moore, here Austin, James B. Ross, and Henry Hallam, appear in this production. Like its predecessors, "The Weakling" is complete in itself and shows Miss Joyce in a new role. "Three Men and a Woman," is the title of a Lubin picture that is also being shown tomorrow. This is a sensational melodrama and the entire company was sent to St. Augustine, Fla., to produce it. Some of the most daring scenes put into photography in this picture. Anna Lucretia, and the entire cast are expert swimmers, and this is brought out clearly in the picture. This offering for Sunday according to the critics, is full of thrills and will make good on any day. When a Vitaphone comedy program, when John Bunny in the lead, which is on the program for Sunday, should prove to be no exception, John Bunny and Miss Flora, another well known member of the Vitaphone company assume the leading roles.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Klaw & Erlanger will present Elsie Ferguson in a new play by Austin Strong entitled "The Dragon's Claw." Miss Ferguson in the past few seasons has become one of the foremost of the public, and Mr. Strong, the American playwright, has to his credit numerous plays of merit, including "The Toyman of Nuremberg," "The Drum of Oudburg," "The Little Fox of the Wilderness" and "The Exile."

In "The Dragon's Claw," which will be very pretentious in its scenery and effects, there will be a company all told of over thirty. The first of the principals so far announced are: Frank Mills, Frederic de Belleville, Paul Everett, Robert Peyton Gibbs, Francis Conlan, Ida Waterman, Madge Coran, Suzanne Halperin, and Lowell Sherman. The scenes are laid in China during the Boxer uprising, in which the allied forces took such a conspicuous part. Miss Ferguson will be seen as the wife of a young American army officer.

After a most hazardous trip from St. Petersburg, Russia, across Germany and into the very heart of the war zone, Anna Pavlova, the Russian ballerina, has arrived in England. It is stated that Pavlova and her entire ballet and symphony orchestra will positively come to America for the first opening at the Metropolitan opera house, New York, and will tour the English provinces have been canceled. This will leave her free to come to America several weeks ahead of schedule.

"Kismet" will shortly go out on its fourth annual tour. It will be seen this year in the principal cities of the Middle West and the book and the leading man for Ethel Barrymore, has been engaged for the role of Hajji, the beggar.

A new musical production will be made at the La Salle opera house, in Chicago, shortly. It is named "One Girl in a Million" and the book and lyrics were written by Addison Burkhardt, the music being by the same in conjunction with Frida Hall. The production will be made by a new corporation, the Royal Producing company. In the cast will be Eva Fiallo, Angelo Novello, Nina Allen, John Kennell, Edwin Favor and Gilbert Gregory.

The Comedy theater in Chicago has undergone another change of name. Formerly it was known as the Whitney opera house, and in the future it will be designated as the Germania.

After thinking it over again George Primrose has decided that he was not serious a short time ago when he made the announcement of his permanent retirement from the stage. He has formed a combination with another old-timer, George Wilson, to head a big minstrel show.

Charles Frohman will present Otis Skinner in a new play at Washington, D. C., early in October. It is called "The Silent Voice."

Paul Hyde Davies, a Hoosier tenor, has been engaged to sing leading parts for the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera company.

The new sacker, Strauss opera, "Mein Jäger Herr," will be put on by F. C. Whitney in January.

May de Sousa, well-known opera singer, has filed suit for divorce from her husband, Eaton Arthur Haines, whom she married in 1910.

This year Chaucer's "Ole to appear in "The Heart of Paddy Whack," a new play written especially for him by Rachel Crothers.

The principal players in the cast for "The Beautiful Adventure," which will be presented at the New Grand, are: Charles Frohman in

FORD'S PROFIT SHARING PLAN

Response Has Flooded the Detroit Office With Correspondence.

That the Ford Motor company's announcement of reduction in prices, coupled with a profit-sharing plan for prospective benefit of retail buyers, has lifted the people "off their feet" is indicated by correspondence that has overwhelmed the Detroit office.

While the Ford company's announcement of its new profit-sharing plan was clear, officials find it necessary to reiterate that the profit-sharing plan is not a cut out of the price of every car at once, although there is no guarantee that present prices will not be advanced, so all orders accepted for immediate delivery only.

The profit-sharing plan, by which each buyer who purchased a Ford between Aug. 1, 1914, and Aug. 1, 1915, is to receive from $10 to $50 as his share of the season's profits, is an entirely separate and distinct proposition, contingent on the sale and delivery of at least 300,000 new Ford cars between the date named.

Three hundred thousand cars is a stupendous production and people fear the figure may be in excess of what is necessary to recall.

It is necessary to recall that the Ford output has grown from year to year to understand that 300,000 cars will be only a normal production.

From Aug. 1, 1913, to Aug. 1, 1914, 888 cars and the season before some 1,100 cars were manufactured. With every new Ford buyer interested in the company's profits as soon as he buys, it is a conservative estimate to base the profit-sharing plan on a production of 300,000 cars.

The Ford company explains the new plan is fulfillment of a promise. It was the promise of a reward for the organized to build a car for the people.

MICHIGAN FARMER FINDS MOTOR TRUCK USEFUL IN MANY WAYS

In Ingham county, Michigan, dwells a farmer who believes in applying the motor truck to his business. During a recent hot spell he lost two horses while in the midst of haying. His Reo motor truck, however, was service with excellent results, as the accompanying photos show. He cut two acres of hay in one hour and that record the next time he tries it.

W. H. Porter, the owner of the truck, has plowed with it and says it beats horses for this work. He purports to do all his fall plowing by this means.

Since it hauls his material, grain, potatoes, and does other work, his horses used to do, he says he intends to completely motorize his farm—as soon as he perfects a winnery attachment to keep the "hands" from getting too much money for the Clydesdales and Percherons.

the front end, longitudinal motion is taken care of by shackles at the rear end. The long extension of the frame serves admirably for supporting the gas tank, and the motor is mounted rigid and durable support than any bolted or bracketed band.

WILL BUILD 75,000 OVERLANDS NEXT YEAR

The Willits-Overland company has just completed the most successful year in its history. In that time 50,000 cars were built at Toledo, and factory enlargements for an enormous increase in production for 1915 are nearing completion.

John N. Willits, in an interview in London, made public that 75,000 Overlands will be built next year.

That Mr. Willits' confidence is justified is evidenced by the fact that the company has been successful in securing a large order for 1915.

The continued demand for Overland cars furnishes evidence that in spite of all the talk about hard times, the American people have the money to spend for automobiles if they can get them.

"The Overland automobile is the fruit of years of effort in developing the type car which meets the great majority of Americans. The optimistic manner in which dealers have contracted for the entire next year's output leads us to believe that the American people are ready to buy."

"Today's demand is centered on the less expensive car of proved capabilities. The average motorist wants a moderate priced car—one that is economical, reliable and yet sturdy and smooth in action."

AUTOMOBILE HAS REPLACED THE MULE.

Seizure by the German and French governments of thousands of automobiles, taxicabs, motor omnibuses and motor trucks within their respective borders, including some belonging to American tourists, indicates the great extent to which the automobile has been used in the various campaigns in the European conflict.

In the transportation of supplies in modern warfare the automobile has placed the Missouri mule in the background. The automobile has proved its usefulness in the rough and rugged regions in addition to the motor vehicle is proving invaluable for the speedy movement of heavy artillery.

The automobile is used extensively in the field is highly probable, although the motor vehicle is used extensively in the field is highly probable, although the motor vehicle is used extensively in the field is highly probable.

Undoubtedly thousands of American automobiles owned abroad will play a part in the conflict, and it will not prove surprising if the great utility and the enormous attempt to obtain large consignments of motor cars from this country.

From the large number of motor vehicles already impressed into the service of Germany and France, it is highly probable that they may be utilized in the transportation of large bodies of troops in the defense of desirable railroad facilities.

Auto Efficiency.

"This is the day of efficiency in all kinds of human effort. Men and women after a thorough investigation of all prominent makes of automobiles built in America.

Three roadsters are used by battalion chiefs of the fire department. "We use two standard touring cars are utilized as police squad patrols."

"Since going into service some time ago, our five Willits-Knight cars have been vigorously put through their paces and found more than satisfactory in every way," writes George Kapp, director of public safety, of the Lancaster, Pa., fire department.

improvement over the ordinary sort, and the fact that they are certainly driving make an economical, smooth-running combination that to me seems nothing short of perfect."

Those interested in extensive motor touring will undoubtedly be interested to know that a new touring service bureau has been installed at both the New York and Chicago offices of the Automobile Blue Book Publishing company for the free and exclusive use of owners of the 1914 Blue Book. Any owner of a current issue of the book is entitled to the free use of this bureau for any kind of advice on any contemplated tour. This service covers the entire territory covered by the five volumes of the book viz., all of the United States and Southern Canada. The character of the information obtainable is: Complete route itineraries, the shortest and best roads, the most scenic sections, the latest road improvements and changes (including temporary detours) and the most comfortable and desirable accommodations along the way, etc.

The distinct value of this service to Blue Book users is at once apparent. The book has long proven its value in he himself has laid out his tour. The service bureau now tells him where to go and lays out his contemplated trip complete, giving him every essential detail that he may desire. The new addition assuredly makes the Blue Book a more valuable asset to every motor tourist than ever before.

Following its policy of years past in providing the most modern offices and conveniences for its employees, the Hupp Motor Car company has let the contracts and work is under way, on an extensive addition to its country offices. The new building will practically double the present office floor space and will contain, besides a number of private offices, show bath and other comforts for the men who look after Hupp sales, service and production.

Averaging over 150 miles per day Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Morris of Los Angeles traveled across the continent this summer in their Franklin roadster. Their route led them through San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis and Buffalo.

Their actual time on the road in going 4,400 miles was twenty-four days. From Los Angeles to St. Louis they carried with them a third passenger, when they arrived at the Franklin factory in Syracuse the same air was in three of the tires that was in when they left Los Angeles. One tire was punctured twice by nails.

Averaging over 150 miles per day Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Morris of Los Angeles traveled across the continent this summer in their Franklin roadster. Their route led them through San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis and Buffalo.

Their actual time on the road in going 4,400 miles was twenty-four days. From Los Angeles to St. Louis they carried with them a third passenger, when they arrived at the Franklin factory in Syracuse the same air was in three of the tires that was in when they left Los Angeles. One tire was punctured twice by nails.

POLITICS AND THE WAR.

Another thing that Americans have need to guard against in this juncture of a great and exciting war in Europe is a neglect of political affairs that would leave unguarded the gates we have lately closed against the designing and corrupt politicians who NEVER NEGLECT AN OPPORTUNITY, and to whom the people's neglect is always an open door.

We have a national house of representatives to elect this fall, and upon the outcome of this election depends the question whether a great patriot who is giving the best of his splendid store of ability and patriotism to the service of all the people is to be rebuked by a defeat or supported by a victory.

The election of a Republican house would mean—to his enemies and to the nation's enemies—that he lacks the support of the American people. The election of a Democratic house would be warning to his enemies, to the people's enemies and to the nation's enemies that he has the full and wholesome backing of the American people.

It is in local elections, perhaps, that the danger is greatest. The splendid service of the president, the high and fine position he has taken on foreign and domestic affairs and the enthusiastic admiration and support the people are giving him, ought to insure the nation against the humiliation of a party reverse in the congressional elections.

But no such spirit prevails in local elections. Here, therefore, the danger of neglect is far greater, and the need of alertness correspondingly great.

Minnesota in November will pass on many important amendments to her Constitution, will elect a governor and a set of state officers, and will choose a legislature for the first time under the new non-partisan law. And by far the most important of these is the legislature, for upon the character of that body depends the fate of the plan for the reorganization of the state government in the interest of efficiency and economy, which is by all odds the most vital thing that will come before the state lawmaking body when it meets in January.

And the time is near at hand when the people of Minnesota should begin to give consideration to these matters.

By general agreement a political truce was declared after the June primaries until the first of September; and despite a little "gum-shoeing" here and there and a little laying of wires, this truce has been well observed.

But the first of September is at hand, and with it will come a campaign of two months, during which the issues of the election will be decided. Minnesota should not let her interest in the war in Europe obscure her far greater interest in the election of the right kind of a governor, the right kind of a legislature, and the right kind of state and local officers.

Meanwhile, Gen. Sherman's reputation grows day by day.

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY

Though their armies still oppose a determined front to the German invasion, manifestly the allies are hard pressed. All thought of taking the offensive has been abandoned, and it is recognized that the early offensive movements, all of which met defeat, were tactical errors.

Paris is defended by a weakened and losing army, and threatened by a superior force that is determined and encouraged by victories. Another siege of Paris cannot, apparently, be far away.

The report of an English defeat at

THE UPSHOT OF WAR.

(From Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus".)

What, speaking in quite unofficial language, is the net purport and upshot of war?

To my own knowledge, for example, there dwell and toil in the British village of Dumdrudge, usually some five hundred souls. From these, by certain "natural enemies" of the French, there are successively selected, during the French war, say thirty able-bodied men.

Dumdrudge, at her own expense, has suckled and nursed them; she has, not without difficulty and sorrow, fed them up to manhood, and even trained them to crafts, so that one can weave, another build, another hammer, and the weakest can stand under thirty stone avoidupois.

Nevertheless, amid much weeping and swearing, they are selected; all dressed in red; and shipped away, at the public charge, some two thousand miles, or say only to the south of Spain; and fed there till wanted.

And now to that same spot, in the south of Spain, are thirty similar French artisans, from a French Dumdrudge, in like manner vended; till at length, after infinite effort, the two parties come into actual juxtaposition; and Thirty stands fronting Thirty, each with a gun in his hand.

Straightway the word "Fire!" is given; and they blow the souls out of one another; and in place of sixty brisk useful craftsmen, the world has sixty dead carcasses, which it must bury, and anew shed tears for.

Had these men any quarrel?

Busy as the Devil is, not the smallest!

They lived far enough apart; were the entirest strangers; nay, in so wide a universe, there was even, unconsciously, by commerce, some mutual helpfulness between them.

How then? Simpleton! Their Governors had fallen out; and, instead of shooting one another, had the cunning to make these poor blockheads shoot.

St. Quentin marks a new point in the German advance, for St. Quentin is far within the French line of the defense, and is, indeed, the northern terminus of the second line, which runs from St. Quentin to Laon, Reims and Chalons-sur-Marne.

Either a lull in the campaign, or a stoppage of reports, has marked the last twenty-four hours. A lull from exhaustion after many days of continuous fighting would not be surprising. The loss of life must have been terrible on both sides. Details are few, and when the story of this long battle is told, the world must prepare itself for a sickening tale of blood and death, very likely the most gruesome and horrible in all the world's history of man-killing.

There are hints of this already. German prisoners, according to Paris reports, say that two German regiments were so thinned by the fighting that they were joined, and that of the combined forces only sixty men finally remained. A regiment numbers about three thousand men.

In the East, conflicting reports indicate that the Russian advance is steady. Berlin reports a defeat of five Russian army corps near Allenstein; but St. Petersburg reports the investment of Koenigsberg and the capture of Allenstein, both in the first line of Prussian defense. The Russians claim to have an army of two million men advancing on Posen, the point in the Prussian defense nearest Berlin.

While the Austrians continue to report victories in the Lodz-Kraznik district of Russian Poland, the Russian invasion of Galicia or Austrian Poland continues, and the Austrians have fallen back to the defense of Lemberg, the Galician capital, which is about to be invested.

The navies so far have been inconspicuous, but London reports an engagement in the North sea off Heligoland, Germany's defense to the mouth of the Elbe, in which a British fleet destroyed three German cruisers and two torpedo boats. None of the vessels engaged were of the first class, though several of the English vessels are modern battle cruisers. The German ships destroyed were protected cruisers of a minor class.

If you find yourself thinking too kindly of war, just remember that all those who are being killed are the pick of the able-bodied young men of the nations involved.

STATE'S RIGHTS AND PEOPLE'S RIGHTS.

A number of Southern newspapers have opened a campaign against the pending bill for the Federal regulation of railroad securities.

Ostensibly, this campaign is based on a regard for "state's rights," and the fear that Federal regulation to this extent will override the functions of the several states.

Actually, it is based on the fear, bred by the railroads, that the processes of stock-issuing required by the law will stop railroad expansion, which is absurd.

Now state's rights are no more invaded by Federal regulation of railroad securities than they are by Federal regulation of railroad rates. The question is not whether the nation or the states shall regulate railroad securities, but whether they shall be regulated at all.

The states cannot regulate them. If forty-seven states were to adopt uniform laws to this end, the forty-eighth state would offer a sanctuary to railroads seeking to evade public regulation of their securities, and regulation would fail.

The Federal government must regulate securities, or there will be no regulation worth the name.

This bill is in many respects the most important of the several pending measures. There must be regulation of railroad securities in the interest of the public, so that there may no longer be watered securities on which the people are asked to pay dividends.

If state's rights stand in the way of this necessary legislation, so much the worse for state's rights. For higher than state's rights, higher even than the rights of the Federal government, is the right of the shipper and the consumer to fair play and fair rates from the railroads.

These European nations are learning that to get gory you simply knock "L" out of gory.

"ISSUES" AND THE GOVERNORSHIP
The Minneapolis Journal wants to know where and what are the issues to be in the forthcoming governorship campaign.

"Mr. Hammond," says the Journal "is tied up by his congressional duties in Washington, but the mails are operating. He has said practically nothing on state affairs since he became a candidate in March, save to write a letter approving in very general terms the plan of the efficiency and economy commission. Mr. Lee has endorsed the same plan rather more explicitly. There is thus no issue between the two candidates on that score."

There should be no issue between them on that score, and we hope there will be none. Yet the Journal obviously seeks to make one by asserting that Mr. Hammond's approval was "in very general terms," and that "Mr. Lee has endorsed the same plan rather more explicitly."

When did Mr. Lee endorse this plan "rather more explicitly," or explicitly at all? The success of this plan is more important by far than the question who will be elected governor in November; and we should be very glad to feel confidence in Mr. Lee's support of this plan if he should be elected. We feel no such confidence, however, and have heard nothing from Mr. Lee to justify it. The fact seems to be that Mr. Lee, while approving the plan "in very general terms," has left himself an ample loophole for escape. The danger is that the fact that this plan originated in a commission appointed by Governor Eberhart will loom so largely in Mr. Lee's vision that he will support it in good faith only if he must.

We cannot answer the Journal's question about the "issues." Mr. Lee, by his jockeying with the county option question, has removed that issue from the field, except as it involves his good faith. We certainly hope that the business reform of the state government will not be an issue. There should be no division of opinion whatever on that question.

The Journal proposes the tariff as an issue. That's puerile. What has the tariff to do with the governorship of Minnesota? We don't even know how Mr. Lee stands on the tariff, and we don't care and nobody cares. Whether he is a free trader or an advocate of prohibitive protection can have no possible bearing on his fitness to be governor. To urge this as an issue is to confess complete bankruptcy not only of issues, but of reasons why Mr. Lee should be favored.

The issue probably will be simply this: whether the people of Minnesota would rather have Winfield Scott Hammond of St. James or William E. Lee of Long Prairie to be their governor for the next two years.

That's issue enough, and at any rate it is the "issue" on which the result of the election will turn.

And Mr. Hammond's supporters can let the outcome rest upon that issue with complete confidence of victory.

This is a good time of year to remember those good resolutions you made last spring about taking care of the garden.

SYMPATHIES IN THE WAR.

It is natural, of course, that our neighbors of foreign birth should let their sympathies run with their blood. The English, Scotch, Irish and Canadians will sympathize with Britain, the Germans with Germany, the French with France, etc.

But what about the thoroughly Americanized citizen with a detached viewpoint, whose only interest is in the right and whose only hope is that the best possible outcome for humanity at large will follow the war? He must do some studying, and even then he is going to have trouble in placing his sympathies properly.

Everybody will sympathize with the widows and orphans of all nations, with the soldiers who bear the brunt of battles brought about by others, with the peasants who must shed their blood and pay the taxes, with the women and children who must suffer sorely even if they are not widowed and orphaned—though if the war lasts long there will be few unweaned left in Europe.

So far everybody can go. But a brief study of the aims of the several nations—or of the statesmen and princes who guide their destinies—leaves sympathy still unmoved and objectless.

No unbiased person will sympathize with Russia's dream of a Slav dominion over civilization, or of a path to the sea over prostrate Scandinavia. No unbiased person will sympathize with Germany's ambition to gain new footing on the North sea at the sacrifice of Dutch and Belgian integrity, or with her ambition to humble England by destroying the British dominion of the sea. No unbiased person can sympathize with Britain's ambition to destroy Germany as a world power. It is less hard to sympathize with France in her longing to recover Alsace-Lorraine and to get revenge for the humiliation of 1870; though revenge is no worthy motive.

In so far as any country battles to preserve its integrity and to repel invasion or to curb the encroachments of a rival, sympathy flows easily. But when it comes to taking by force that which belongs to ~~and~~ is cherished by another, the springs of sympathy refuse to be stirred.

Fortunately, this makes it easy to do what it is the duty of every American to do—that is, to refrain from comment or criticism that is likely to imperil this country's strict neutrality, and to abstain from any form of discussion that will give offense to our neighbors who, though American citizens in every sense of the word, have ties of blood and recollection that bind their hearts in sympathy to an embattled native land.

With the Turks and the Hindus in it this war may develop some characteristic features after all.

WHEN THE HORRIBLE BECOMES COMMONPLACE.

Even war, after a time, gets to be a commonplace.

Perhaps it is as well Humanity has a way of adjusting itself to conditions, even to conditions of horror; and if it didn't there would be vastly more misery than there is.

A young reporter, sent to report a great catastrophe, saw there a dead body for the first time. Then he saw two or three more. Then he saw hundreds. The first one was a shock, the second a greater shock; but the hundreds, he says, did not materially increase the impression. Death, in those few days, became a commonplace.

The time has not yet come in the history of the present conflict when war is a commonplace. But it will come, if the war continues.

The world was shocked when, mysteriously and spontaneously, all Europe turned itself into an armed camp. Probably the world was shocked more than by any other war, not only because this promised to be the greatest and most terrible war in history but because there were more people today than there ever were before who believe that war is not a necessary evil, and that it can and should be abolished.

The world was shocked again when actual conflict began and human lives were taken by the thousands. The war was the sole topic of talk. Hardly anything could happen that would distract attention more than for the moment. Always, whatever the interruptions, the talk returned to war, where it began.

Already, this is less so than it was. War still is the main topic, but there are other topics. The baseball fan has resumed his interest in the sport. The market fan watches the market page for news of the opening of the stock markets. The business fan is speculating on the effect war will have on business in this country.

If the war goes on as it promises to go on, history will be made by wholesale. Dry pages of dates and names of battles will be recorded for the affliction of future students. Men will be killed and wounded, wives and children will be widowed and orphaned; the grim sisters Want, Disease, Woe and Misery will stalk abroad, scourging a world.

But mankind's capacity to suffer sympathetically being limited, by a bounty of nature, all this will become commonplace. As the soldier's dread of the enemy's bullets passes when he is a veteran, as the young recruit's terror of blood and death vanishes with experience, so the edge of the world's horror will be dulled by use, and presently it will be taking the news of the latest record-breaking battle with an equanimity that now would seem heartless.

And where are all those good people who, a few months ago, wanted the newspapers to refuse to print war news? Gone are Red Cross nurses?

THE MILK WAGON AND THE COST OF LIVING.

The Herald has said often that in solving the problem of the high cost of living there is great need of closer study of the methods of getting food from producer to consumer.

It has used as an illustration the fact that frequently four or five milk wagons can be found in the same block, doing what one milk wagon could do as well at a fourth or a fifth the cost. It has suggested, too, that needless multiplication of meat wagons and grocery wagons and dry-goods delivery wagons all count heavily to increase needlessly the high cost of living.

Farm and Fireside is talking now about the same thing. It has discovered that in Boston 215 milk dealers operate 666 wagons "which bump over the streets of Boston every day in the year, covering the same territory again and again." All of which, of course, makes milk cost more than it need.

It finds that one firm each have six wagons, ten wagons, eighteen wagons, twenty-five wagons, thirty-two, forty-four, forty-seven, fifty and a hundred wagons. There are two firms each with seven and nine wagons, three with five, six with four, eleven with three, forty-eight with two and 134 with one. How many wagons it would take to do it all it is impossible to say without a careful survey of Boston's milk business. Certainly the number could be vastly reduced by co-operative delivery.

Besides making milk cost more than it should, there is great disparity in the cost of delivery to dealers. The cost per quart is of course much less to the company that has a hundred wagons than to any of the others.

Can co-operative milk delivery be made to solve this angle of the problem? They think so in DeKalb, Illinois. The DeKalb Dairy company is a co-operative organization of milk-producers who control about four-fifths of the milk supply. The town is divided into four routes, and each driver has certain streets. "He delivers to every house in his district, and the cost of delivery has been cut in two.

Kalamazoo, Michigan, has a similar system. In Lawrence, Kansas, one large privately-owned creamery and milk plant handles most of the business, and gives better service than if competition existed. This plan is dangerous, of course, because it approaches monopoly and monopoly spurs greed.

Suppose the milkmen that serve Duluth could get together and organize a co-operative delivery system, with just enough wagons and drivers to serve the community. Given proper supervision by the city of the milk supply—and it has such supervision now, we believe—the consumers should be as well satisfied as they are now. And it would be at smaller expense, for the dealers could share the gains of co-operation with their customers.

Perhaps the tariff and the trusts have had too great a share of public attention in the consideration of the high cost of living.

More consideration of means of getting food more directly and more cheaply from producer to consumer would be helpful.

At the rate this war is spreading, one might be pardoned for a belief that if the oft-forecasted end of the world doesn't come pretty soon it might as well not come at all.

Tippling an Old Evil.

London Chronicle: The tips, or "valets" of the eighteenth century were by no means confined to Inns. A traveler through this country, Le Blanc, says that, after dining with a friend, "you'll find all the servants drawn up in the passage like a file of musketeers, from the house steward down to the lowest livery servant, and each of them holds out his hand to you in as deliberate a manner as the servants in our Inns on the like occasion."

The master of the house turned his head away, pretending not to be aware of what was going forward. Lord Hervey records that George II's queen thought it necessary to give valets in town as well as in the country, but the king told her she was a fool to do so.

Most Women Lack a Sense of Proportion

From the London Times.

A wise old man was once asked what gift he would bestow on his godchild if he were a fairy godfather. After some consideration he replied: "If the child were a boy, I would give him a sense of humor; if a girl, a sense of proportion. The most tiresome people I have come across in the world have been the men who could not see a joke, and the women who not only made mountains out of molehills, but made mountains into molehills."

The sixth sense, as the sense of proportion has been called, means, in the widest acceptance of the term, a correct sense of fitness of things and of their value with regard to each other in every relation of life. Women are certainly more deficient in it than men, and it is not hard to understand why; their temperament, their narrower education, and the more or less trivial matters which come so much more into their lives all tend to foster a one-sided view; to men, with their broader education and wider interests, things must at times take on a more objective and are seen in their true relation to each other.

The belittling the essentials of making mountains into molehills is the most dangerous phase of the want of proportion; decreasing that "things do not matter" and "nothing is of much value" lies at the root of much evil; but the elevation of molehills causes more actual annoyance in daily life. A well-ordered mind allows no one thing to dominate it to the exclusion of all else, for even if the one thing be of supreme importance, the power of judgment must suffer from the exclusion of other matters. And if it be dangerous to give unbounded sway to some great idea, what can be said when one of the many trifles that make up most lives is exalted into an eminence? Housekeeping, for instance, with its attendant worries to the mind that centers itself upon them, assumes the most alarming proportions. We have all known the cook's forgetfulness to be allowed to cast a gloom over an entire family, or the non-arrival of the fish to be the sole topic of a meal-time because in the ill-regulated mind of the hostess nothing else could find place.

I once traveled through the St. Gothard Pass in company with a woman who would neither enjoy the scenery nor allow anyone else to do so, because her buttonhook has been left behind in Basel by her own fault. It turned out to be only a sixpenny one, and she was going to Milan, where she could buy dozens, as her long-suffering family pointed out to her, but that was of no avail. The lost buttonhook completely marred the beauty of the view, the Alps were short of their glory and even the splendor of an Italian sunset over the lakes had no power to mitigate her woe or prevent her from destroying her companions' pleasure.

In money matters the want of proportion makes itself very widely felt. People lament that they cannot afford this or that, when they are frittering away far more in other directions without deriving any benefit therefrom. "If I wish I could afford to buy books," says one who thinks nothing of taking in a couple of more sixpenny weekly papers. The clerk's wife in the flat at Fulham who persuades her husband to buy her a 20-guinea fur jacket, is as destitute of the sense of proportion as the well-to-do dweller in a fashionable neighborhood who feels she is compensated for having bought a 10-guinea hat by rating the housemaid for using a farthing's worth too many sticks in lighting the fire. An old man died lately leaving one piece 10,000 pounds and another some plate and furniture. The possessor of the money legacy was utterly unable to grasp the advantage of having several additional hundreds a year to her small income, but considered that her sister, who had got chairs she could sit in and forks and spoons she could put in her mouth, was much better off than herself; no amount of persuasion could make her think differently.

In more important matters than money, women's lack of proportion leads them astray. It has been well said: "Woman's usual disinclination to risk delicate action deserts her entirety in her love affairs; a woman to whom console appear a hazardous investment will cheerfully risk marriage with a selfish spendthrift or a man who is a slave to the eye of an artist; and though it may be strengthened and helped by education, each is really left to develop the sixth sense for themselves."

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. O'Connell, the Sunshine Man.

His Love is perfected in us.—I John iv, 12.

Remember: Love, if you would be loved; serve, if you would be served; and humble yourself, if you would be exalted. . . . The more you feel your weakness, the more you should cling to Jesus, who is your strength.

Let the ivy be your example, and as that clings to the oak, so do you cling to Christ. He that doeth this is always safe.—Anon.

Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good.—III John 11.

Remember: The lowest feelings of our nature become sublime by nobler emotions. Love, self-command will elevate them all; and to ennoble and purify, not to crush them, is the long, slow work of Christian life. . . .

Love was given, encouraged, sanctified, chiefly for this end: that self might be annihilated.—E. W. Robertson.

Thou shalt love thy neighbor.—Matt. v, 43.

Remember: We hear much of love to God. Christ spoke much of love to man. We make a great deal of peace with heaven; Christ made much of peace on earth. Religion is not a strange or added thing, but the breathing of an eternal spirit through this temporal world.—Henry Drummond.

And it came to pass, as Aaron spake unto the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they looked toward the wilderness, and, behold, the glory of the Lord appeared in the cloud.—Ex. xvi, 10.

The clouds have a silver lining.

Don't forget; And though he's hidden, still the sun is shining.

Courage! Instead of tears and vain repining.

Just bide a wee, and dinna fret.

Get into the habit of looking for the silver lining of the cloud, and when you have found it, continue to look at it, rather than at the leaden gray in the middle. It will help you over many hard places.—A. A. Williams, Dayton, Ohio.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1894.

The Populist convention of St. Louis county was held at the city hall this afternoon. John Jensen was unanimously chosen as chairman, and with C. Mitchell was elected as secretary. The following county ticket was nominated: Treasurer, J. C. Mishler; attorney, John M. Martin; clerk of court, John L. Morrison; register of deeds, Herman E. Hanson; auditor, John Cogan; sheriff, E. W. Glass; supervisor of schools, Mrs. S. B. Bangs; coroner, Dr. C. B. Pillsbury; surveyor, W. H. Cruikshank; commissioners, L. M. Young of Duluth and Fred Johnson of Bonanza. The legislative ticket was selected as follows: Senator, S. J. Nygren; representatives, W. D. Dean, Fred Osborne and Thomas Morris, the latter of Virginia.

L. D. Libby of West Duluth returned yesterday from Idaho where he is interested in placer mining. He reports a good outlook for gold seekers.

Mrs. Taylor Green of Oneota and children have returned from an extended visit at Mankato.

A. W. Hartman, Col. H. H. Graves, C. R. Haines and H. H. Knox of New York returned yesterday from the Nipigon river. They brought back the skins of seven brook trout mounted on birch bark. The smallest weighed five pounds and the largest six and three-quarter pounds.

L. R. Swift of St. Cloud passed through the city last evening. He goes to Easing Lake to take the position as deputy collector of customs.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 57 deg.; maximum yesterday, 65 deg.; minimum yesterday, 50 deg.

Bert Jamieson, an old-time knight of the grip, is in Duluth again, for the first time in nearly two years. He hails from Minneapolis and represents the Northwestern Wine company.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Beneath the Surface.

The other day we were watching some sander boats racing close hauled in a fresh west wind. They leaned far over until lee rails were submerged and, in some cases, water must have come into the cockpit. It certainly did look once or twice as though the slender craft would capsize. "They're going over this time sure," my friend, a stranger to the ocean, exclaimed, as an extra heavy gust struck the fleet and the masts careened over at a dangerous angle with the water.

A few days later the man saw one of these yachts on the ways at a boat yard and understood why it had been able to stand up in half a gale. The hull above was slender, almost delicate in structure; but underneath was a deep fin-keel with an immense junk of lead on the bottom of it. Hundreds of pounds were carried out of sight beneath the surface and that was why the boat had kept steady. The bilge-riding sails could not pull that weight over, try as they might.

A score of times I have thought of the yachting man I have seen some man or woman stand firm in the midst of difficulties or temptations that threatened to conquer them. How often circumstances arise that seem destined to overwhelm one, and against which he can apparently make no effective resistance. But the overwhelming is not certain to take place. One weathers a terrific blow, and stands a temptation; and the casual observer is at a loss to account for the fact. We would not be surprised, if we could know, as there is often a chance to know, the hidden ballast in that life that makes for steadiness and power.

A man lands on our shores from the Old Country and immediately goes to work with hundreds of others. His companions may be careless spenders and reckless liveys. Unlike them he saves his money, guards his health, and advances as a wage earner, being superior to an unfavorable environment he begins to emerge from the mass as a useful and prosperous citizen. What makes the difference? One day a bonny wife and children arrive from the other side and the family circle is reunited. The ballast kept the life craft steady is apparent.

A young man quits his dissolute companions and turns to work. Seeking the explanation of his conduct we may find it in the prayers and hopes of a good mother, the encouragement of some teacher or friend, or perhaps the resolute declaration of a fine girl somewhere that she will never marry until she has a husband to support a man till he tries to amount to something.

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER

Some Firing At Th' Front

BRISTOW BEATEN

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Aug. 29.—(Special to the Herald.)—It is curious that we sometimes come to tolerate what we had condemned, come to admire what we had abhorred. That is the way I feel about Kansas. For a generation she was all that was abominable in the eyes of the average Southern Democrat. We menaced her by old John Brown and the Brender family. "Subsidy" we thought her exemplar of politics and morality. We looked with horror on the militant womanhood of Carrie Nation. There were more sorts of vicious issues there—according to our standards—than in Massachusetts or Vermont. We believed that the devil chuckled every time he contemplated the state.

It was only an exhibition of ignorance and prejudice on our part. Kansas has been afflicted with many faults and she possesses many virtues. She has forced prohibition of the liquor traffic to prohibit something nearly all of us ever deemed "one of those impossible things" and Kansas is making a wonderful fight for the abolition of the poor house and the depopulation of the jail. Some of us Pharisees owe Kansas an apology. But we had excuse. For thirty years after the war you could scrape a handful of hateful "loyalty" off Kansas with a chip or a corn cob. That was when all a Republican statesman was required to do to secure approval was to begin a stump speech with an exordium like this:

"Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, Ladies and Gentlemen, Fellow Citizens of Kansas: It was the wickedest rebellion in all the times of time and our matchless soldiers are entitled to the undying gratitude of a grateful country for the tens of thousands of deeds of daring they performed on bloody fields against hellish Democratic treachery and villainy. But that were out. A new one came on the stage and Kansas acquired a little sanity and a deal of decency. Indeed, when her state Constitution forbade the elective franchise to a Confederate soldier, her legislature chose an old rebel soldier as one of her senators in congress and he served a full term in that body."

I have not made examination, for it is a matter of some research, but I venture to say that since her admission to the Union Kansas has been represented in the United States senate by more different individuals than any other state during that period, 1861-1914. Safe to assert that since the admission of Kansas she has had more than twice as many different representatives in the senate as Vermont. Old "Subsidy" Pott had two terms in the senate, John James Ingalls three terms and Preston B. Plumb was three times re-elected, but died before he had completed his third term. All the others were re-elected for re-election. It is perhaps worthy of note that Senator Plumb, serving when the bloody shirt was the party battle flag, was in hearty accord with Senator Beck of Kentucky on the tariff question, and Jerry Simpson actually quickened the Kansas conscience on that subject and made an honest politician of her so far as concerns tariff, or nearly so. Teddy Roosevelt only had the courage to say what he thinks about protection of the tariff opinions of Kansas would be quite as decent as those of Kentucky. But then protection is banished from our politics. It will never make an other fight. Its claws are drawn. Hereafter it will only growl and snarl.

What I stand out to write was a word or two about the Hon. Bristow, just defeated for the standpat nomination for re-election to the senate. He is a wonder. He reminds of the fellow the poet described in the lines: "So wary, held and wise, That he scarce received, For Gospel, what the church believed." There was nothing good enough for him. He saw degeneracy in all mankind and appointed himself to correct it. He was angry and he will die angry. His philosophy is this and only this: "Whatever is wrong. He was horrified when a Democratic president appointed a director of the Harvester concern to an important office purely administrative, but he was delighted when Roosevelt appointed a member of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan to an important diplomatic post where the houses and Morgan had dealings. It is reported that Mr. Bristow was the only senator who opposed the appointment of Mr. Delano as a member of the bank reserve board. Why? Because that gentleman is a railroad man. Now, Kansas is the child of steam railroads. Kansas has three newspapers, churches and schools to the square inch—all things considered—than any other community in the world, and yet here she sends a "reformer" to the senate who holds that when an American citizen enters the honorable profession of transportation he is ever after a reprobate and unfit for the public service or any place of public trust!

The mistake the Hon. Bristow made is this: He thought it profitable to be a demagogue in a state where there is more political activity and scrutiny than anywhere else in the country. Everybody can read out there and a heap of 'em can think, if they did make Bristow senator. It was not that they cared a rap for Bristow, but that they had it in for Chester L. Long that decided the thing. By and by Kansas will think herself into the Democratic party. I hope she will fetch Victor Murdock with her for he is a Democrat, all but a little trimming of rough corners.

Charles Dickens was the historian of the poet Silas Wegg, who used to "decline and fall" for Mr. Nicodemus Boffin. It is a pity that Dickens never met the Kansas Bristow, for the poet, Washington Thompson Sandiggs, who put it this way:

"On yonder's hill there is a house, And in that house there is a girl, And in that girl there is a heart, It beats and throbs and throbs and beats, Like hell itself, but not for me."

There never was a girl on hill or plain whose heart throbbed and beat like the political heart of Kansas does. And we are all glad that the fervid heart of Kansas does not beat and throb for the Hon. Bristow.

SUNDAY ISLAND TO BE ABANDONED

Crops Are Often Destroyed By the Small Pacific Rats.

Auckland, N. Z., Aug. 29.—Sunday Island, a verdant tract of seven miles by five, in the Kermadec group of the South Pacific, is to be abandoned. The thirteen persons who have been living a Crusoe-like life there have been driven to desperation by loneliness, volcanic rumblings, and other afflictions, and the New Zealand government is to bring the party back to civilization.

Thomas Bell, who was landed on the island by a whaler in 1874, has an undisputed possession of the place for twenty years, but the New Zealand government later appropriated the island and among a number of settlers. Since then frequent attempts have been made to colonize the place, but Bell is the only one who stuck it out from the first. Even now, he is the only one of twelve settlers who is left. Bell says he would remain if the government would recognize his ownership.

While oranges, bananas and tobacco thrive on the island, there are no coconuts, and the crops which the hand-picked islanders try to plant are often destroyed by the small Pacific rats which infest the place, and a surviving volcano frequently gives the whole island a shiver.

CANAL EMPLOYEES TO BUILD HOMES

Col. Goethals Will Grant Permission Under Certain Conditions.

Panama, Aug. 29.—Owing to the great demand for quarters and the congested condition of those owned by the Panama canal government, Col. G. W. Goethals, governor, has decided to permit many of the employees to build their own homes on the canal zone under certain conditions. Since the concentration of a large part of the canal force on the Pacific side of the isthmus was begun, the demand for quarters has been so great that the inability to meet it, the permits for these structures will be granted with the understanding that the builders are not to receive any compensation in the event of the termination of the owner's services with the canal.

NATURAL INCREASE IN POPULATION IS HIGH.

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 29.—There are 6,842 Americans in Australia according to a report just made by the official statistician of the commonwealth. The Germans on the island continent number 32,990, the Chinese 20,775; Scandinavians, 14,700; Italians, 6,419; and the Japanese, 3,414.

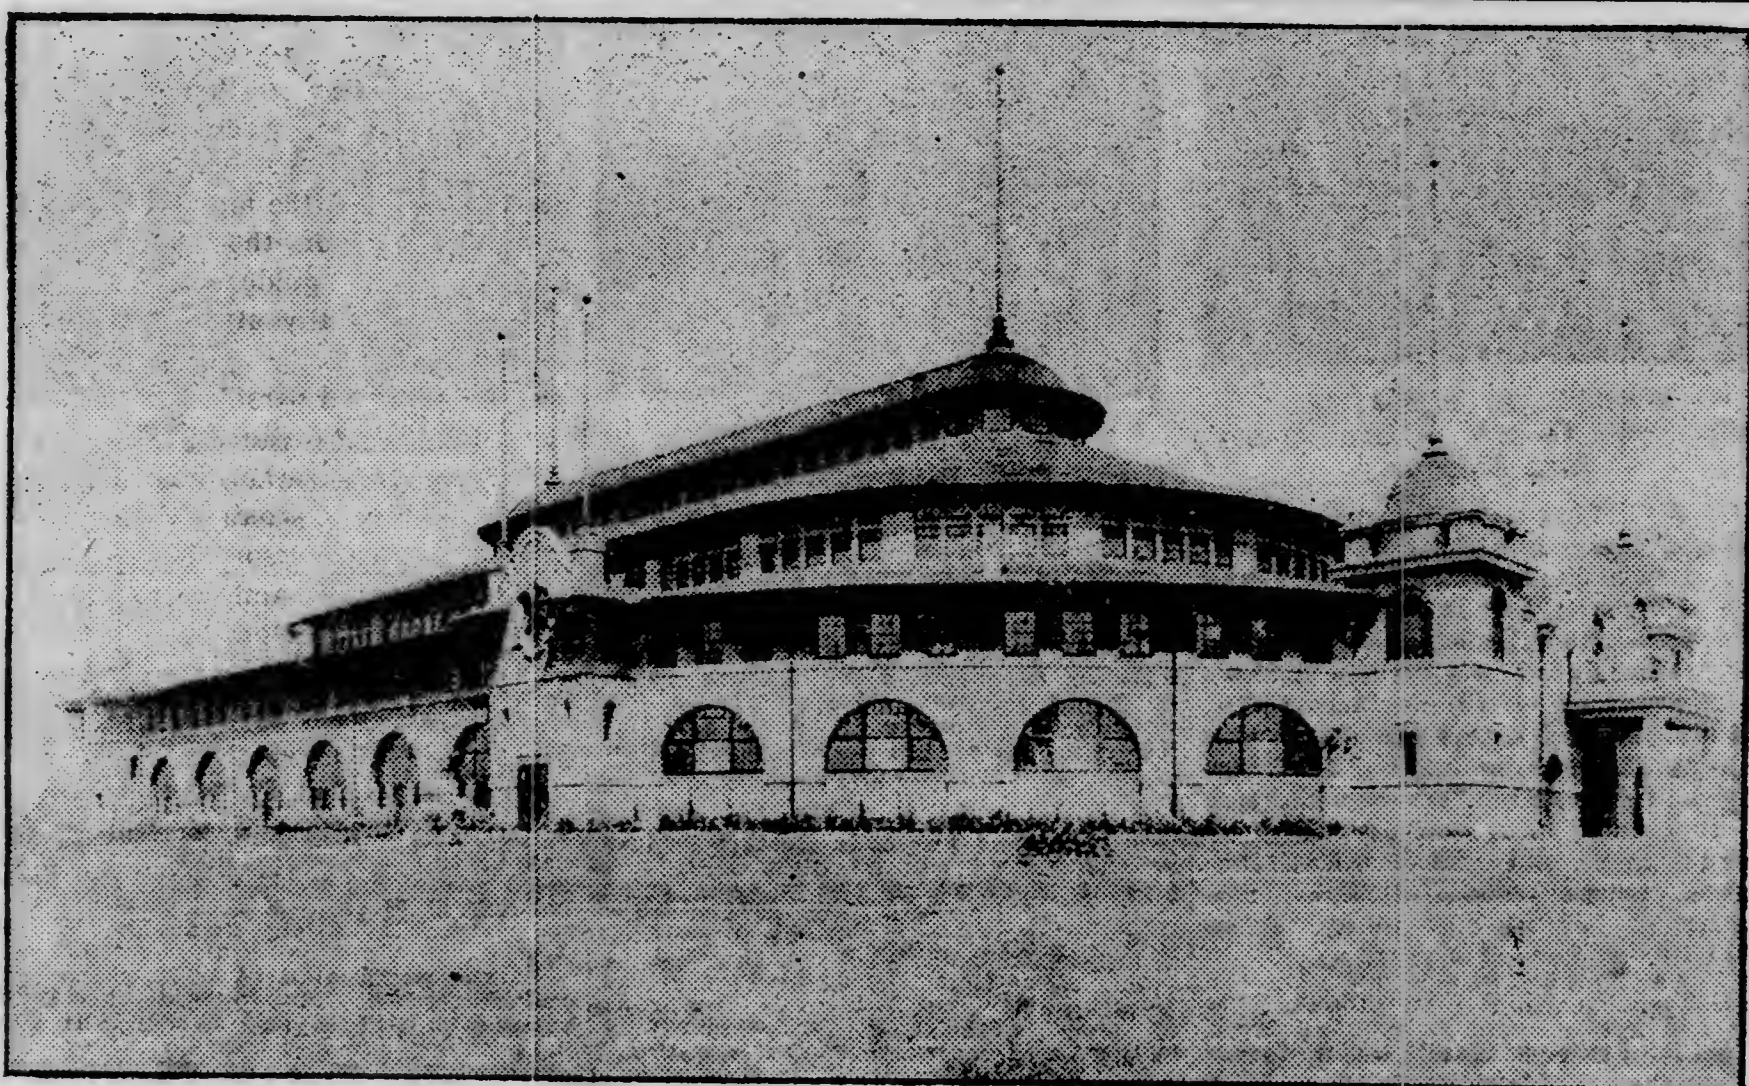

The number of the population of Australia is increasing rapidly, and it is expected that the number of women in Australia will be 1,000,000 by 1914.

The rate of natural increase in population is high, being 2.03 per cent, and it appears from the official estimate that the total population of the island continent will soon be 8,000,000.

FARMERS AT MINNESOTA'S STATE FAIR

LIVESTOCK PAVILION, WHERE $1,000,000 WORTH OF STOCK WILL BE SHOWN.

ONE CORNER OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY BUILDING.

The farmer who attends the Minnesota State fair, Sept. 7 to 12, will find it the greatest educational experience ever held by any state fair. Every type of machine used in the home or field, every breed of livestock raised in the Middle West, and every variety of vegetable, grain, corn, grass or fruit grown in this part of the United States will be exhibited. The feature of the fair, from the standpoint of the farmer, will be the livestock show. One million dollars' worth of pure bred stock from every part of America will be exhibited. The entries in the beef and dairy cattle departments have broken all previous records. It is believed that the draft and light horse shows will be better than last year, which was a record exposition. The Poland-China turkey of 8000 offered to Minnesota, breeders insures the greatest swine show ever held in the Northwest. There is an unusual entry list of local sheep breeders in the sheep show, in addition to the splendid display of leading American importers.

To help in the development of the hog industry in the Northwest, which has suffered considerably from cholera in the last two years, a great public swine market will be held in conjunction with the swine show. Here breeders and buyers will meet in large numbers. It is very difficult for breeders to obtain good stock because of the heavy expense incurred in looking over the widely scattered herds of persons with hogs to sell, but the state fair swine market will enable farmers to look over the best herds in America at no more than the cost of a trip to the fair. It is expected that hundreds of farmers will avail themselves of this opportunity.

Farmers' Club Reunion. The farmers' club reunion, at which members of the 800 clubs in Minnesota will gather to talk over their community problems, will be a new educational feature at the fair this year. It is said that hundreds of other clubs from adjoining states will attend this reunion. The feature is new to America. Assurances have been received that the personal representatives from nearly all the clubs will attend this reunion, to familiarize themselves with the work done by other clubs. The women's department of public welfare will minister to the comfort of farmers' wives.

County Exhibits. The county exhibits, in the agricultural building, where one-half of the best products of field and factory in competition with each other, has always been a popular feature. This exhibit, tastefully arranged in the four wings of the great building, gives a concrete illustration of the comparative real estate and industrial values of various parts of the state. Many large cash prizes are offered counties putting on exceptional exhibits. The exhibit of the Minnesota Agricultural college in the annex of the agricultural building illustrates in an effective way the methods of agriculture and household economics endorsed by the college.

Auto Show. The auto show is certain to attract considerable attention throughout the Northwest. The number of autos in the country districts is increasing rapidly, and hundreds of letters have been received asking about the various makes and models to be shown at the state fair. The auto room is being handsomely decorated. The color scheme is white, green and purple, with dashes of gold. All the windows on the first floor of the immense liberal arts building, where the auto show is to be held, have been stained.

Fruit and Vegetables. The exhibits of fruit and vegetables will be found in the horticultural building. There will be a large commercial apple display entered from different parts of the state. The various methods of marketing apples and other fruit will be demonstrated by the Minnesota agricultural college. The two market gardeners' association from Minneapolis and St. Paul will have exhibits. The horticultural exhibit is interesting a larger number of exhibitors than formerly.

Butter and Cheese. The butter and cheese exhibits in dairy hall will attract the best displays from all over the country. Minnesota is considered the leading butter state in the country, as far as the quality of her product is concerned, and has entered products. It is said that so many entries have been received in this department that it will be difficult to exhibit them.

Poultry Show. The poultry show, offering more premiums than ever, is attracting entries from all over the country. The exhibition, showing a flock unit of eight hens and a rooster, are popular with the practical poultryman. The educational features, a costly program of amusements has been arranged for the recreation of every one attending the fair. "The World at Home," the big educational show on the coliseum; the auto races, Saturday, Sept. 12; the $1,000 saddle horse races, before the grandstand, Sept. 11; Lincoln Beachy, the famous aviator; the horse races, at which $25,000 in purses are to be given away, and many other weeks, will be given during fair week.

WHAT $10 DID FOR THIS WOMAN

The Price She Paid for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Which Brought Good Health.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and I sleep well. I can't say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it all to your remedies. I feel pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."—Mrs. MATTIE HALEY, 501 Colquhoun Street, Danville, Va.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

HEALTH TALKS

William Brady, M.D.

A Satisfactory Make-Up

NO WOMAN, and no man either for that matter, can keep a good complexion and had teeth very long. Bad teeth mean poor mastication of the food; that in turn weakens the blood; the impaired digestion weakens the blood; the anemia gives a sallow complexion. A dentist can give the average beauty doctor cards and spades when it comes to painting real roses. Drug store complexion come high, even at the nominal price of a dollar a box. For a dollar you can have your teeth cleaned or a small filling put in. The drug store color tools nobody but the wearer. An artificial complexion is a great nuisance too, putting it on and taking it off so many times a day. Roses that won't rub off are cheaper and a lot more satisfactory. But these come as a mere incident of good health. If you are short on health you are necessarily shy on roses.

A diet rich in uncooked fruits, nuts and vegetables, which requires good teeth for mastication, furnishes the most available iron for weak blood. No use taking iron pills or tonics for suppositious blood building if the blood gets nothing to build with. It is a curious fact that the iron we administer as medicine is practically all eliminated from the body at once. It doesn't enter into the formation of new blood; it merely stimulates the blood-making organs to better work. Sometimes more iron is given in a day than the whole body contains.

Exercise in the open air, walking, particularly in the morning, sleep in the open air or in a room with plenty of open windows and drafts, sunbathing, free water drinking and free bathing are the natural preservatives of the complexion.

Special abdominal exercise night and morning without restricting clothing, taking by lying on the back and drawing up the knees, and then placing the hand upon the abdomen and raising and lowering it by slow, deep, rhythmic, not jerky breathing, for ten or a dozen times will be found a remarkable remedy for a bad

DECISIVE BATTLES ARE REPORTED ALONG PRUSSIAN FRONTIER

Austrian Operations Are Officially Reported to Berlin.

Germans Are Reinforced and Report 30,000 Russians Captured.

Koenigsberg Has Been Entered, Is St. Petersburg Report.

Berlin, Aug. 28, via Copenhagen and London, Aug. 31, 3:48 p. m.—The following account of Austrian operations has been obtained in Berlin from an official Austrian source:

"In the Austro-Russian theater of war decisive battles have been in progress for several days. Our forces, which were victorious near Krasnik, pursued the Russians in the direction of Lublin. The Austrians advanced also into the enemy's territory between the Rivers Bug and Wlora, and have taken positions in front of Zamosc."

As other contingents of the Austrian army hold their positions northeast and southwest of Zamosc, and are crossing the Dniester they encountered great forces of the enemy.

"Emphasis is placed on the word 'decisive' in this official report. The Austro-Russian battle front stretches for a distance of 420 miles." A correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt at the Austrian headquarters, telegraphing under date of Aug. 28 regarding the events subsequent to the defeat of the Russians at Krasnik, (Continued on page 3, second column.)

GERMANS ADMIT BUT 1,143 KILLED SO FAR

Official Statement Gives 3,326 Wounded and 1,761 Missing.

Berlin, Aug. 30, via Copenhagen and London, Aug. 31, 12:36 p. m.—The twelfth list of German losses was made public today. It contains 1,065 names.

The total of German casualties made public up to the present time is as follows: 1,143 dead; 3,326 wounded and 1,761 missing.

No news from either of the German fronts has been given out up to midnight last night.

As an evidence of the enthusiasm of the German people in the war it is announced here today that volunteers have presented themselves for service.

As the result of the patriotism shown by the Socialists of Germany, the anti-Socialist propaganda has ceased its activities, at the same time expressing the hope that it will not have to resume after the war is over.

Baron Kurt Arrives. Baron Kurt von Lersner, second secretary of the German embassy at Washington, has reached Berlin by way of Gibraltar.

He is reported to be in danger at Gibraltar of being arrested by the British and detained during the war. Nothing has been heard here of the fact that Baron Kurt von Lersner, a brother of Baron Kurt and also attached to the German embassy at the American capital.

Mails from the United States, which during the first days of the war accumulated on the frontiers, are now beginning to be distributed.

Dispatches from London and Paris, which at the outbreak of the war predicted the rapid disintegration of the military power of Germany, have been received with great ridicule by the general staff.

GRAND ARMY AT DETROIT

Total Attendance Is Expected to Be About 30,000.

Boy Scouts Serve as Body Guards to Veterans.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—All Detroit shook hands today with white-haired heroes of the Civil war. More than 5,000 members of the Grand Army of the Republic and affiliated organizations had reached the city when the forty-eighth annual encampment was officially opened this forenoon. Every train, boat and interurban car arriving in Detroit today carried scores of old soldiers and their wives and daughters. It was stated at G. A. R. headquarters that 30,000 delegates are expected by tomorrow.

Busy on Routine. Today was devoted to committee meetings at the headquarters of the G. A. R. and several of the associated bodies. The committees worked in executive sessions to "get the convention decks cleared for action," as a veteran expressed it. It was hoped that the routine work today, so the committee members would be able to join their comrades and ledges tomorrow on boat rides. The first public meeting will be held at the Light Guard armory tomorrow night, when the veterans will be welcomed by Governor Ferris and other officials of Michigan. Several responses will be made by the (Continued on page 3, second column.)

MARVELS OVER DEATH ENGINE

American Writer Reaches London From the Continent.

Discredits Charges of Cruelty By Germans—Tells of Louvain.

London, Aug. 31, 1:53 p. m.—Arno Dosch, a correspondent of the magazine World's Work, who went into Belgium some days ago, arrived in London today from Brussels, which city he left last Thursday. He said that John T. McCutcheon of Chicago, Irvin Cobb of New York and Mr. Hanson of the Chicago News were safe in Brussels when he left.

Referring to the military situation in Belgium, Mr. Dosch said:

"The German auto trucks are a marvel. Equipped with scythes, they mow right through hedges and wire fences. If the roads do not suit the drivers, these trucks are heavily armored and they are able to resist anything except artillery fire. They enable the German forces to make forty miles a day. The number of these trucks seems unlimited."

It is estimated that 300,000 German troops have made their way through Brussels and that 400,000 moved south of Brussels. The troops which passed through Brussels were later engaged with the British forces. Only a small detachment of Germans was left in the Belgian capital.

Discredits Cruelty Charges. "I have no personal knowledge of the horrible German atrocities reported in the English press," Mr. Dosch went on, "and I am inclined to discredit most of these stories. The Germans also tell many stories of Belgian atrocities, most of which I believe. In some cases fired on German soldiers from inside of buildings. DOVER HEARS HEAVY FIRING ACROSS SEA

Appears to Come From Vessels on the French Coast.

London, Aug. 31, 11:58 a. m.—Heavy firing was heard at Dover this morning, which appeared to come from vessels along the French coast. The official bureau, it is announced, has no information on the subject.

ENGLAND HAS SEIZED TWO TURK WARSHIPS

Has Offered to Pay for or Replace Them After the War.

Washington, Aug. 31.—In connection with the seizure of two Turkish warships in English shipyards, the British foreign office today sent the following statement to the embassy here:

"In accordance with the recognized principle of the right and supreme right to insure national safety in time of war, his majesty's government took over two ships which were built in England for the Turkish government, but had not yet been delivered to them. His majesty's government has not only offered to pay in full and return the ships in good condition after the war or supply equivalent new ones, but also additional and generous compensation for the use of the pre-empted ships during the war."

LONDON TIMES REPRIMANDED

Premier Asquith Denounces Pessimistic Report on Allies' Position.

Threatens to Ask for Drastic Laws to Stop Such Acts.

London, Aug. 31, 4:05 p. m.—Premier Asquith publicly reprimanded the London Times in the house of commons this afternoon for having published a dispatch which created much excitement Sunday morning.

"The publication of this dispatch," said the premier, "seems to me a regrettable exception to the patriotic reticence which the press as a whole has shown up to the present, and I trust it will not recur."

Mr. Asquith opposed the suggestion to allow correspondents to go to the front, but admitted that the public was entitled to prompt and authentic information as to what is happening there, and said that arrangements were being made which he hoped would prove adequate.

Hints of Drastic Action. Referring to the Times' dispatch the premier then said:

"It may become necessary to ask the house to pass some drastic legislation which I shall be very loath to propose until the urgency becomes extreme."

The London Times, on Sunday morning, printed a dispatch from Amiens, France, in which the correspondent took a very pessimistic view of the situation from the standpoint of the allies.

Telegraphing under Saturday's date, he wrote:

"This is a pitiful story which I have to write. The time for secrecy is (Continued on page 3, third column.)

SAYS WAR CLOUD HAS GONE FROM BOULOGNE

Times Correspondent Reports German Right Is Checked.

London, Aug. 31, 7:05 a. m.—The correspondent of the Times at Boulogne, wiring his paper of the situation there, says:

"The war cloud has passed away to the south, leaving the town calm and peaceful."

"The governor has issued an address to the townspeople explaining that the French soldiers withdrawn along the line of Pas de Calais, and that the French soldiers withdrawn could be better employed elsewhere. He appeals to the people to maintain the calm they have hitherto displayed."

"Pas de Calais, from Lille to Dieppe, is said to be free from German troops. Dispatch bearers from the front passed through Boulogne yesterday and this afternoon and the good news was posted that the German right had been checked and slightly turned."

It is estimated that 300,000 German troops have made their way through Brussels and that 400,000 moved south of Brussels. The troops which passed through Brussels were later engaged with the British forces. Only a small detachment of Germans was left in the Belgian capital.

DAY'S NEWS OF THE WAR AS TOLD IN THE BULLETINS

Terrific fighting continues on the Austro-Russian frontier. Both the combined Austrian and German forces and the Russian armies claim an advantage.

Berlin reports the capture of 30,000 Russians.

From Austrian sources it is stated that the Russians are being driven in the direction of Lublin. Earlier advice from Petersburg stated that the Austrians were active chiefly in the direction of Lublin.

A news dispatch from St. Petersburg says the Russian advance in East Prussia is proceeding and repeats an earlier Russian claim of success in Galicia.

Fresh forces of Germans have appeared on the Russian front, according to a British official report. This bears out recent statements from Belgium that the Germans were withdrawing troops from their western front to reinforce the Austro-German lines in the east.

Up to noon today no official announcement had been made to London or Paris. News dispatches indicate that the Germans are pressing toward Paris and one army is within sixty miles of the French capital.

Paris is preparing for a siege. Outgoing trains are filled with non-combatants, while troops from the South and West are arriving to reinforce the garrisons already in the ring of the city's fortifications.

Dover reports that rising, seemingly from vessels along the French coast, was heard there this morning.

After, and myself, will take out our rifles and go to the field."

"So will I," said the queen, "and all Belgian women will go with me."

"FAMILY OF CROWN PRINCE AT HAGUE."

London, Aug. 31, 3 p. m.—A correspondent of the London Daily News, who has been traveling through Dutch Limburg, has sent a dispatch to his paper declaring the belief prevails in that section that the family of the king, who is said to be in the Hague, has taken refuge at The Hague.

This story has not been reported from any other quarter.

"If necessary you, my dear minister, and myself, will take out our rifles and go to the field."

FRENCH STATEMENT OF WAR SITUATION

Paris, Aug. 31, 5 p. m.—An official statement issued this evening summarizes the situation to date as follows:

On our right, after partial checks, we have taken the offensive and the enemy is retreating before us.

In the center we have had alternate checks and successes, but a general action is now being fought.

On our left, by a series of circumstances which turned in favor of the Germans, and despite lucky counter-attacks, the Anglo-French forces were obliged to give way. As yet our armies, notwithstanding a few incontestable checks, remain intact.

The morale of our troops is excellent in spite of considerable losses, which also are being rapidly filled from regimental depots.

Washington, Aug. 31.—France is considering the advisability of moving the seat of her government from Paris to Bordeaux as a precautionary measure, according to official advices received here today.

OCCUPY FORTS. Paris, Aug. 31, 12:08 p. m.—All night long troops from the south and west of France have been arriving at the capital and passing by rail around the city to locations in the encircling forts to which they have been assigned.

There is great activity on the part of the municipal military administration in completing the details of the plans for the defense of Paris.

People Are Fleeing. The unusual animation to be noticed on the streets of Paris today was caused chiefly by the thousands of persons who are preparing to leave the capital. Persons are departing, taking their families with them as a matter of prudence. It is felt here that the fewer the number of non-combatants in the city the better.

SAYS GERMANS FEEL ODDS AGAINST THEM

Briton Quotes Prisoner: Says Order Is "Take Paris or Die."

London, Aug. 31, 6:55 a. m.—The Times correspondent at Ostend records, at second hand, a conversation with a German officer from Brussels, who said that frantic efforts were being made to inflict a crushing blow on the allies, especially on the English forces. Notwithstanding the success achieved by the German army, the dispatch says, there is a feeling among many German soldiers that they are fighting against too great odds.

Despite all efforts to conceal the news from Prussia, it is stated, information of a disquieting character regarding events there is beginning to circulate among the German forces, intensified when two divisions, totaling 80,000 men, passed the Meuse by the bridge of Andenne at Soles, between Namur and Liege, en route for German Poland.

The emperor has made it known to every soldier that his orders are to take Paris or die, the dispatch concludes.

Ghent District Is Clear of Germans

Travel to Antwerp Is Restricted By the Authorities.

London, Aug. 31, 12:04 p. m.—A Havas agency dispatch from Ghent reports that that district is now clear of Germans, and that railway and telegraphic communication has been resumed with Grammont.

The military authorities have ordered the railways to limit the issue of tickets for Antwerp to the strictest minimum. The order is to prevent friends in the fortress, and to prevent spies taking advantage of the crowd to obtain information regarding the Belgian forces at different points.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—All Detroit shook hands today with white-haired heroes of the Civil war. More than 5,000 members of the Grand Army of the Republic and affiliated organizations had reached the city when the forty-eighth annual encampment was officially opened this forenoon. Every train, boat and interurban car arriving in Detroit today carried scores of old soldiers and their wives and daughters. It was stated that G. A. R. headquarters that 30,000 delegates are expected by tomorrow.

Busy on Routine.
Today was devoted to committee meetings at the headquarters of the G. A. R. and several of the associated bodies. The committee working in executive sessions to "get the convention decks cleared for action," as a veteran expressed it. It was hoped to complete the routine work today, so the committee members and ladies tomorrow on boat rides. The first public meeting will be held at the Light Guard armory tomorrow night, when the veterans and old soldiers of Michigan and other citizens of Michigan. MARVELS OVER DEATH ENGINE

American Writer Reaches London From the Continent.

Discredits Charges of Cruelty By Germans—Tells of Louvain.

London, Aug. 31, 1:58 p. m.—Arno Dosch, a correspondent of the magazine Warlike Work, who went into Belgium some days ago, arrived in London today from Brussels, which city he left last Thursday. He said that John T. McCutcheon of Chicago, Irvin Cobb of New York and Mr. Hanson of the Chicago News were safe in Brussels when he left.

Referring to the military situation in Belgium, Mr. Dosch said:

"The German auto trucks are a marvel. Equipped with scythes, they move right through hedges and wire fences, if the roads do not suit the drivers. These trucks are heavily armored and they are able to resist anything the enemy artillery fire. They enable the German forces to make forty miles a day. The number of these trucks seems unlimited.

"It is estimated that 300,000 German troops have made their way through Brussels and that 400,000 moved south of Brussels. The troops which passed through Brussels were later engaged with the British forces. Only a small detachment of Germans was left in the Belgian capital.

Discredits Cruelty Charges.
"I have no personal knowledge of the terrible German atrocities reported from Belgium," Mr. Dosch went on, "and I am inclined to discredit most of these stories. The Germans, I tell many stories of Belgian atrocities, of which I believe. In some cases Belgian boys and old men undoubtedly fired on German soldiers from inside of buildings. This was the case in (Continued on page 3, fourth column.)

ENGLAND HAS SEIZED TWO TURK WARSHIPS

Has Offered to Pay for or Replace Them After the War.

Washington, Aug. 31.—In connection with the seizure of two Turkish warships in English shipyards, the British foreign office today sent the following statement to the embassy here:

"In accordance with the recognized principle of the right and supreme duty to insure national safety in time of war, his majesty's government took over two ships which were building in England for the Turkish government, but had not yet been delivered to them. His majesty's government has not only offered to pay in full and return the ships in good condition after the war, or supply equivalent new ones, but also additional and generous compensation for the use of the pre-empted ships during the war."

LONDON TIMES REPRIMANDED

Premier Asquith Denounces Pessimistic Report on Allies' Position.

Threatens to Ask for Drastic Laws to Stop Such Acts.

London, Aug. 31, 4:05 p. m.—Premier Asquith publicly reprimanded the London Times in the house of commons this afternoon for having published a dispatch which created much excitement Sunday morning.

"The publication of this dispatch," said the premier, "seems to me a regrettable exception to the patriotic reticence which the press as a whole has shown up to the present, and I trust it will not recur."

Mr. Asquith opposed the suggestion to allow correspondents to go to the front, but admitted that the public was entitled to prompt and authentic information as to what is happening there, and said that arrangements were being made which he hoped would prove adequate.

Hints of Drastic Action.
Reverting to the Times dispatch the premier then said:

"It may become necessary to ask the house to pass some drastic legislation which I shall be very loath to propose until the urgency becomes extreme." The London Times, on Sunday morning, printed a dispatch from Amiens, France, in which the correspondent took a very pessimistic view of the situation from the standpoint of the allies.

Telegraphing under Saturday's date, he said:

"This is a pitiful story which I have to write. The time for secrecy is over. The time for drastic action is at hand. I shall be very loath to propose until the urgency becomes extreme." (Continued on page 3, third column.)

SAYS WAR CLOUD HAS GONE FROM BOULOGNE

Times Correspondent Reports German Right Is Checked.

London, Aug. 31, 7:05 a. m.—The correspondent of the Times at Boulogne, wiring his paper of the situation there, says:

"The war cloud has passed away to the south, leaving the town calm and peaceful. The governor has issued an address to the townspeople explaining that they are protected by troops along the line of Pas de Calais, and that the French soldiers withdrawn could be better employed elsewhere. He appeals to the people to maintain the calm they have hitherto displayed."

"Pas de Calais, from Lille to Dieppe, is said to be free from German troops. Dispatches from the front passed through Boulogne yesterday and this afternoon and the good news was noted that the German right had been checked and slightly turned."

KING AND QUEEN READY TO FIGHT

London, Aug. 31, 4:10 a. m.—The correspondent of the Express at The Hague gives a version of a conversation between King Albert and Prime Minister de Broqueville when the king expressed a determination to fight to the last.

The incident occurred in Antwerp Saturday when the king said to the prime minister in the presence of the queen:

"If necessary you, my dear minister, and myself, will take out our rifles and go to the field."

"So will I," said the queen, "and all Belgian women will go with me."

DAY'S NEWS OF THE WAR AS TOLD IN THE BULLETINS

Terrific fighting continues on the Austro-Russian frontier. Both the combined Austrian and German forces and the Russian armies claim an advantage. Berlin reports the capture of 30,000 Russians.

From Austrian sources it is stated that the Russians are being driven in the direction of Lublin. Earlier dispatches from St. Petersburg stated that the Austrians were active chiefly in the vicinity of Lublin.

A news dispatch from St. Petersburg says the Russian advance in East Prussia is proceeding and repeats an earlier Russian claim of successes in Galicia.

Fresh forces of Germans have appeared on the Russian front, according to a British official report. This bears out recent statements from Belgium that the Germans were withdrawing troops from their western front to reinforce the Austro-German lines in the east.

Up to noon today no official announcement had been made to London or Paris. News dispatches indicate that the Germans are pressing toward Paris and one army is within sixty miles of the French capital.

Paris is preparing for a siege. Outgoing trains are filled with non-combatants, while troops from the South and West are arriving to reinforce the garrisons already in the ring of the city's fortifications.

Dover reports that being, seemingly from vessels along the French coast, was heard there this morning.

FRENCH STATEMENT OF WAR SITUATION

Paris, Aug. 31, 5 p. m.—An official statement issued this evening summarizes the situation to date as follows:

On our right, after partial checks, we have taken the offensive and the enemy is retiring before us.

In the center we have had alternate checks and successes, but a general action is now being fought.

On our left, by a series of circumstances which turned in favor of the Germans, and despite lucky counter-attacks, the Anglo-French forces were obliged to give way. As yet our armies, notwithstanding a few incontestable checks, remain intact.

The morale of our troops is excellent in spite of considerable losses, which also are being rapidly filled from regimental depots.

Washington, Aug. 31.—France is considering the advisability of moving the seat of her government from Paris to Bordeaux as a precautionary measure, according to official advices received here today.

OCCUPY FORTS.

Paris, Aug. 31, 12:08 p. m.—All night long troops from the south and west of France have been arriving at the capital and passing by rail around the city to locations in the encircling forts to which they have been assigned.

There is great activity on the part of the municipal military administration in completing the details of the plans for the defense of Paris.

PEOPLE ARE FLEEING.

The unusual animation to be noticed on the streets of Paris today was caused chiefly by the thousands of persons who are preparing to leave the capital. Persons are departing and taking their families with them as a matter of prudence. It is felt here that the fewer the number of non-combatants in the city the better.

IN DULUTH PULPITS ANTI-LIQUOR MEN COMING BROTHERLY LOVE NEEDED

Chaffin, Hanley, Sheldon and Others to Wage Warfare.

Flying Squadron Will Be Here Three Days in November.

The most noted anti-liquor speakers in the world will be in Duluth in November and wage a war against the saloon. They represent the "Flying Squadron of America," the aim of which is to secure national prohibition. The plan for a three-day campaign was outlined last night at the First M. E. church by Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago at a meeting representing nearly all the Protestant churches of the city. The plan was unanimously endorsed, and a local committee was appointed to make all arrangements for the meeting.

Dates Not Yet Decided.
Mr. Stewart, who is the manager and leader of the squadron, said that he could not say just now when the speakers could come, but that would be decided later. The speakers who will probably come are Eugene W. Chaffin, formerly candidate for president on the Prohibition ticket; Clinton S. Howard of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Ella A. Boole, state president of the W. C. T. U. of New York; Dr. W. L. Sheridan of Chicago, general secretary of the Epworth League of America; Daniel A. Poling, president of the National Council of the Home Dressed; Dr. Charles E. Sheldon, Popkewitz, Kan., who has given up plans for a trip around the world to take part in the campaign.

For the last day of the campaign Mr. Stewart will speak as well as Dr. Ira Landrith of Nashville, Tenn., president of Ward Belmont college, and Frank Hanley of Indiana, former member of congress and governor of that state.

Will Cost $1,500.
Mr. Stewart said: Does anyone doubt that this combination working on this plan would stir or arouse any city of the land? Some will insist that it will not be possible to finance a plan of such magnitude. In my judgment it will cost everything considered, to pay rents, advertising, railroad fares and all, not less than $1,500 for each city where the squadron appears, which would mean if it came into 150 cities, not less than $225,000. While this seems like a large sum, it should be remembered that J. S. Lewis of Easton, Ill., treasurer of the flying squadron, is giving $10,000 in support of the plan. I know another man who gives $2,000 and several who are giving $1,000 each. The most encouraging fact is that all over the land, from nearly every state in the union, have come contributions of loyal men and women, some giving as little as a dollar, who have felt the need of some such movement and who counted it a joy to have some part in it. The financial response has been such that we can say with certainty that the campaign is assured.

A local committee, consisting of Watson S. Moore, chairman; Bert N. Wheeler, secretary, and R. T. Forward, treasurer, was appointed to make all arrangements for the meetings. The exact date for the meetings will be announced later.

Hunger for Brotherhood Cause of Unrest, Says Dr. Hovis.

Illustrates Sermon By Novel "The Servant in the House."

That brotherly love is the crying need of the hour was the keynote of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church. His discourse was illustrated by Charles Hann Kennedy's book, "The Servant in the House." His sermon in part, follows:

"Charles Hann Kennedy's 'The Servant in the House,' published a half-dozen years ago, was written to show the unreality of all religion which does not have its basis in brotherly love. It points out the variances which often make brothers in the flesh unbrotherly and the foolish conventions which separate society into sets. It is not the pronouncement of any new doctrine, but simply an attempt to reiterate the fundamental truths of the Gospel of the Son of Man.

"The plot of the play involves the relations of three brothers—one of whom, William, is a vicar whose wife is a sister of the rich and haughty lord bishop of Lancashire. The marriage of the vicar had not been looked upon with favor by the family of his vicar, and so the lord bishop and the vicar had never been on friendly terms.

"One of the three brothers, Robert, was a common workman, a sort of rough, drunken, 'be'er do weel' whose wife had died, leaving a little daughter, Mary, who had been brought up in the home of the vicar and his wife. Mary's father was treated as an outcast by his brother and had never been allowed to come to see his daughter, who had now grown to be a young woman of 18 years of age.

"The other brother, Joshua, who had been not known to the vicar, but who had not seen him since they both were children, turns out to be the much-talked-of and highly-respected bishop of Benares, whose fame has spread to England, but without any suspicion of the part of William, the vicar, that they two had been common.

Brotherly Love Help.
"The vicar's church is in poor repair and greatly needs rebuilding, but the people are unwilling to provide the funds and so he heartened in the midst of his despondency and by his utter astonishment, he receives a letter signed 'Your brother Joshua,' the bishop of Benares, which states that he is desirous to reconstruct the church. The vicar's wife, who is ambitious for her husband's success, knowing that her wealth, and hoping to be able to interest him in the project now in hand, invites him to her home on the very day which they expect the bishop of Benares to arrive.

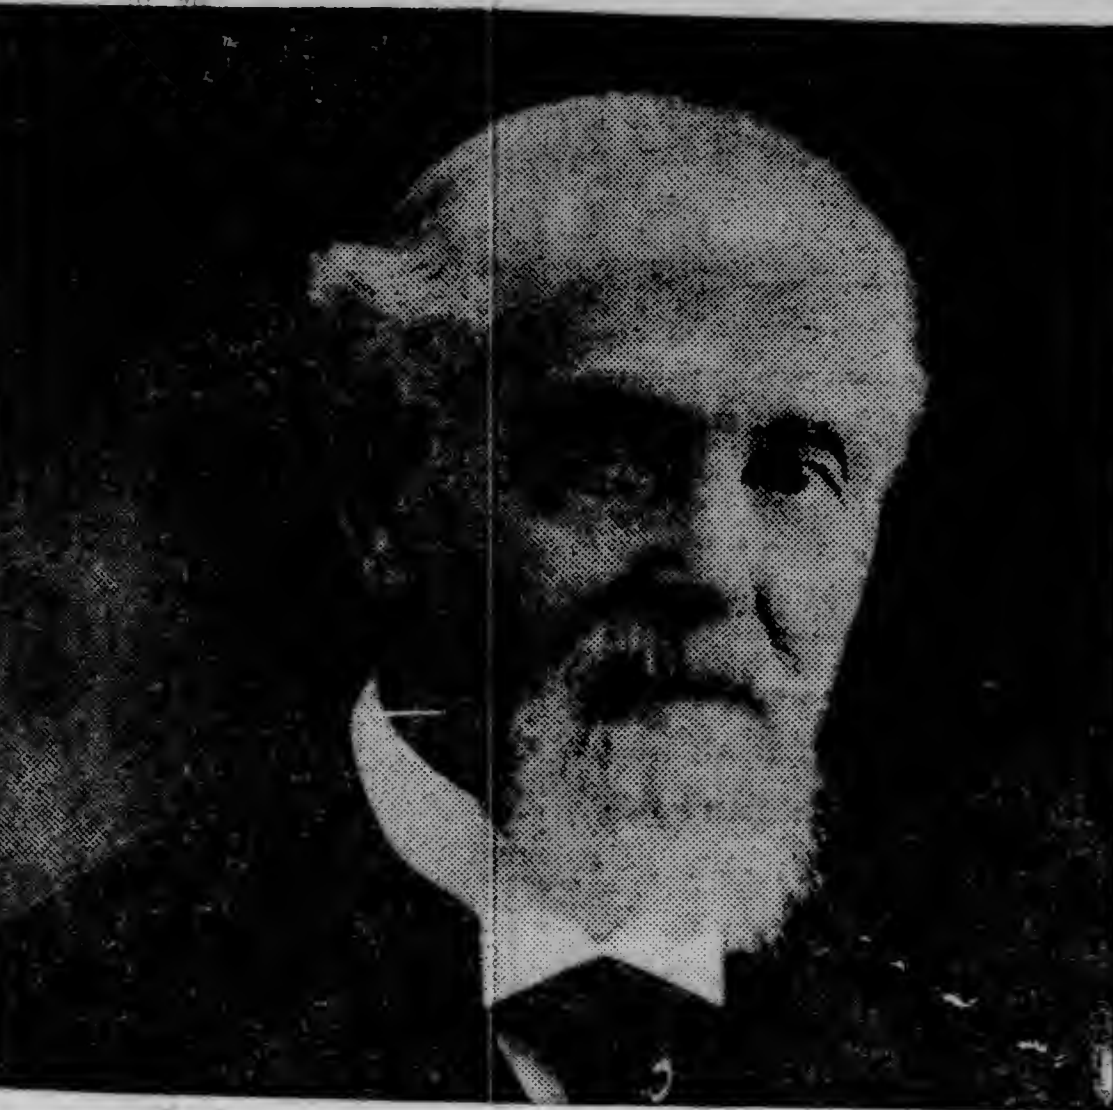

"At this juncture a strange coincidence occurs. Robert, the 'good-for-nothing' vicar, whose name was not mentioned at the vicarage, no doubt had sent word that he was coming, and his presence being undesired, he is driven back to see his child, and the house therefore in more or less confusion, it will not be convenient to have him come. But he disobeys the message and arrives before the other guests.

"Mansion, 'the servant in the house,' the new butler from India, had arrived the night before. He is wearing his native costume. Rogers, the page in the household, accustomed to the recognition of classes in society, is shocked at the fact that Manson allows a lowly butler to help him lay the table cloth for breakfast, and worst of all because when Robert arrives, an apparent common tramp is permitted to sit at the master's table.

His Wife Workingman.
The vicar and his wife have not yet come down for breakfast Sunday morning. Robert, the outcast brother, the heroism and resolution of the pioneer, the man who has converted the forest into a garden and the desert into a garden. Infinitely greater reverence should be shown to the man who is ambitious to become a pioneer in the conquest of human hearts and human energies for Jesus Christ.

"Civilization, in its moral reaches and religious passions, must build upon the gospel of Christ. We do not yet have a sanitary expert, of the constructive statesman or of the determination to organize the commonwealth. More fundamental than these is the moral and religious character of the man and the divine guidance of industry."

THOMAS DOWSE, DULUTH PIONEER, DIES IN PORTLAND

THOMAS DOWSE.

Thomas Dowse, 82 years old, one of Duluth's earliest settlers and among the most prominent pioneers of this city, died last Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. F. Huntress, in Portland, Me., where he had made his home for many years. Word of his death was not received here until morning by Mrs. Robert G. Dowse, of law. The message had been delayed and was not delivered until late this morning. The funeral, it is understood, took place at Portland Saturday afternoon.

Coming to Duluth in 1870, Mr. Dowse soon became one of the foremost citizens in the real estate business and was associated also with the first building of commerce in this city.

He was very active in the city's affairs, and in the early days no real-estate man in Duluth was more respected than he. He was probably Duluth's most influential citizen at that time. He ran for mayor on an independent ticket in the early eighties, but was defeated.

Mr. Dowse lived here up to 1895, shortly after the death of his wife, when he moved to Chicago with his daughter, Mrs. F. F. Huntress. They lived there several years moving to Portland, Me., where Mr. Dowse died. The latter having been born in Duluth, as was Robert F. Dowse, who died here two years ago. Besides his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dowse, the deceased is survived by two grandchildren in Duluth, Miss Dorothy and Robert Dowse.

Mrs. Dowse received a letter from Mrs. Huntress two weeks ago, to the effect that Mr. Dowse was seriously ill and that she had just placed him in a hospital. He sank rapidly since that time, finally succumbing last Wednesday from cancer of the stomach. An older son died here several years ago, as did wife of the deceased and Robert F. Dowse.

EARLY DULUTH SETTLER CALLED END COMES SUDDENLY

August Bartholdi Dies of Complication of Stomach Troubles.

August Bartholdi, aged 60, 506 1/2 East Fourth street, one of the oldest residents of Duluth and widely known in Duluth German circles, died at 6 o'clock this morning of a complication of stomach troubles.

Mr. Bartholdi was a member of the Old Settlers' association and a member of the United Order of Foresters. He came to Duluth forty-one years ago and was intimately associated with the early settlers at the Head of the Lakes, taking an active part in the early development of the city.

Mr. Bartholdi reared a family of eight children, who survive him. His wife died eleven years ago. The children are: Misses Lydia, Rose, Ellen and Clara Bartholdi; Messrs. Walter, Arthur and Ray Bartholdi, and Mrs. G. C. Huntress, Hill City, Minn. He is also survived by two brothers, John and H. E. Bartholdi, both of Duluth.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from Stewart's undertaking parlors.

Minister Is Drunken.
Eagle River, Wis., Aug. 31.—While trying to get a dog into a canoe, the Rev. Dr. Gaffney was drowned at the Red Oak resort. The body was shipped to Chicago.

MINISTER LAUDS SOUL CONQUERORS

"Ambition and Conquest" was the subject of the sermon delivered at the First Methodist church Sunday morning by Rev. John W. Hoffman.

He said that the world is the heroism and resolution of the pioneer, the man who has converted the forest into a garden and the desert into a garden. Infinitely greater reverence should be shown to the man who is ambitious to become a pioneer in the conquest of human hearts and human energies for Jesus Christ.

"Civilization, in its moral reaches and religious passions, must build upon the gospel of Christ. We do not yet have a sanitary expert, of the constructive statesman or of the determination to organize the commonwealth. More fundamental than these is the moral and religious character of the man and the divine guidance of industry."

TALKS ABOUT SEVENTH DAY

Last Day of Week Is Sabbath, Says Evangelist.

"The Sabbath in the New Testament" was the subject last night at the Bible chautauqua tent on West Second street, near the Y. M. C. A., where Evangelist Stemple, White spoke to a large audience.

An Unbroken Line.
"The week which originated in the first seven days of creation, has come down to us in an unbroken line," said the speaker, "and the same seventh day of the week which Jesus and the apostolic church observed as the Sabbath of the Lord is the same identical original seventh day of the week today, as all records plainly testify."

Mr. White exhibited a rare chart prepared by the Rev. William H. Jones, D.D., of London, Eng., in which the true position of the week and days of the week are traced through 160 languages, ancient medieval and modern, and in 108 of these languages the word "sabbath" is applied to the seventh day of the week.

According to Gospels.
"In the New Testament gospels, which were written from six to sixty years after the resurrection, the Holy Spirit in no instance gives any kind of suggestion of sacredness to the first day of the week," said Mr. White, "but in every instance calls the seventh day of the week the sabbath. Baptism is the memorial of the burial and resurrection of Christ and the word has never asked any one to do the impossible, that is, to observe the resurrection weekly, for the anniversary of the resurrection comes but once a year. Just like a birthday, say other languages, and on a day later in the week each eternal law of God will eternally say 'the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God.'"

"And now, for the benefit of the 'doubting Thomas' there is a command and example for such human substitution and to stimulate further Bible study, we pass along the following offers, with the $100 offer for the 'Immortal Man' text.

"One hundred dollars to anyone who can find one Bible verse in which the sabbath of the Lord is called 'the Jewish Sabbath.'"

W. R. Spencer, Former City Attorney, Passes Away in Aitkin.

W. R. Spencer, formerly city attorney of Duluth, died suddenly in Aitkin, Minn., early Sunday morning.

Mr. Spencer was in Duluth last week and left here Saturday evening for Aitkin. He was apparently feeling well until he got to Aitkin. There he had to carry a grip four or five blocks, and when he reached his boarding house he complained of being tired. He gave instructions to the people he was living with not to call him early, and went to his room. Shortly after that Mrs. Joseph McCallan with whom he boarded, heard him gasping for breath and went to his assistance. She called a doctor but Mr. Spencer died in a few minutes.

Mr. Spencer had made his headquarters in Aitkin for the last two years. He was general superintendent of the Cuyuna-Bessemer company, which is developing iron mines on the Cuyuna range. Mr. Spencer had charge of all the development work.

W. A. Hunt, Duluth architect, who is associated in the development company, was with Mr. Spencer until a short time before he took the train for Aitkin. Mr. Hunt said Mr. Spencer was in the best of spirits when he left here. He is survived by a widow, one son, in Boston, a brother, in Nebraska, and a sister, in Iowa.

LITTLE FINNISH GIRL TEACHES HER FATHER SCIENTIFIC FARMING

THE FAMILY OF JOHN KAINUMA.

A story of how a bright little Finn girl of 14 is teaching her father how to run his farm in the northern part of the state on a scientific basis, by reading and interpreting university bulletins and farm papers to him, came to light recently when K. D. Van Wagenen, county agricultural agent, ran across the homestead of John Kainuma.

Kainuma is a north woods farmer who is unable to speak or understand English except with difficulty. Yet with the help of his industrious daughter he has been able to apply successfully the latest and most up-to-date methods and is having no difficulty in showing a profit.

When he ran across Kainuma on a recent trip in the northern part of the county, said Mr. Van Wagenen, we found him busy on an addition to his house. John was reticent and had difficulty in understanding us. Just as we were about ready to give up the attempt to get acquainted he called out his 14-year-old daughter.

"The little girl, like most Finn children, was as bright and sharp as a pin, and she fluently interpreted for us. Previous to her appearance, while we were trying to talk to her father, we caught 'university farm' of a two-year sentence for an auto theft, being sent up from Divide county. Starkweather was employed at the brick yard when he escaped.

Germans Reinforced.
London, Aug. 31, 12:53 p. m.—An official dispatch from London declares that fresh forces of Germans have made their appearance on the Russian frontier and that at some points they are taking the offensive against the Russians.

Captured 30,000 Russians.
Berlin, Aug. 31, by wireless to The Associated Press, via Sayville, L. I.—It was announced here today that about 30,000 Russians had been taken prisoners by the Germans during the fighting in East Prussia, particularly at Ortelsburg, Hohenstein and Tannenberg. These include many officers of high rank. The German attack at these three points was across swamps and lakes.

"Koenigsberg Entered."
London, Aug. 31.—The Chronicle's St. Petersburg correspondent sends the unofficial report that the Russian forces, hotly pursuing the German army, succeeded during the day in confusion in entering the city of Koenigsberg, East Prussia, on the heels of the enemy, and secured command of the town and fortress.

In a dispatch from St. Petersburg the correspondent of the Telegraph says: "The first unofficial accounts of the operations of the Russian army are beginning to come through. The Novoe Vremya's correspondent supplies an account of the battle of Gumbinnen, East Prussia, sixty-six miles southeast of Koenigsberg, which it seems probable that the German resistance in East Prussia.

"He says that on Aug. 19, simultaneously with a cavalry attack at Lidenshtadt, infantry advanced on Pilsken and Grove out the Prussians, who fell back on Gumbinnen. The battle had been begun on Aug. 18 with a terrible artillery duel. In the heat of the fight, one Russian infantry regiment annihilated an entire brigade of the enemy with machine guns, 3,000 dead being left on the field."

1,000,000 Men in Battle.
Home, Aug. 31.—Dispatches from Austrian headquarters to the Corriere Della Sera, state that 1,000,000 men are engaged in the battle on the Austro-Russian frontier. The battle line extends from the Vistula river to the Dniester river, over 100 miles. The Russians have penetrated more than twenty miles into Austrian territory.

Boy Scouts for Guards.
Prominent Grand Army officers have commented pleasantly upon the arrangements for receiving the veterans of the blue. Boy scouts, who have played a particular part "on the receiving line," have won much praise. They form the veterans' body guard. Usually the first persons to greet newcomers are the khaki-clad youths. Whether it be to escort an old soldier to a street car, automobile, or find him a hotel or rooming house, or lead him to army headquarters—the boys apparently have done their duty well. Several persons have been mentioned as prospective candidates to succeed Washington Gardner as commander-in-chief. No veteran can hold the office two seasons in succession, and sentiment has not favored the election of a man who has not been department commander. The following past commanders are said to be in the race: C. W. Blodgett, Ohio; David J. Palmer, Iowa; O. A. Somers, Indiana; Frank O. Cole, New Jersey; H. Conoy, Kansas; and Thomas H. Howard, Oklahoma.

Spanish War Veterans Meet.
Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31.—The eleventh annual encampment of veterans of the Spanish-American war today was formally opened here. Welcoming addresses, responses and reports of officers and committees occupied the greater part of today's session.

Delegations of veterans from all parts of the United States arrived last night and today. One of the largest was a boat load of 800 from Ohio. It is estimated that more than 3,000 will attend during the encampment which will close Wednesday night.

Escapes Penitentiary.

In the jumble of sounds coming from his lips. We were later astounded to learn, through the little girl, that she read and interpreted to her father, farmers' institute annuals, bulletins, and several farm papers, and that certain practices recommended therein, were being put to use.

"Not only this, he had kept accounts. He started poultrying on lines recommended by the University farm, and had made a profit of $1.30 per bushel winter. We looked at his chicken house and found it conformed with the best practices of the University farm."

Raises Winter Wheat.
He raised winter wheat and fed it to his chickens in the straw. He has a three-year rotation, and fed his hay, grain and roots all to livestock. He was pasturing cut-over lands before stumping. He was also handling manure properly.

"We asked him how he knew of these publications, and he said that he regularly attended the agricultural special trains of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, and first learned of them. And here he was ten miles out in the woods, with few neighbors, on a poor road, with swamp on two sides of him, reading bulletins, successfully applying up-to-date methods, and making more money because of it. It goes to show that the University farm is worth something to the farmers of Minnesota."

What you know in England may be something like the truth, but write with the Germans advancing incessantly while all the rest of France believes that they are still held near the frontier.

"Carried All Before Them."
The best hope of holding them lies in the hourly expected arrival of an army from Alsace under Gen. Pau, who so brilliantly retrieved the blunder at Mulhausen. So far the Germans have been making headway, partly by sheer weight of numbers and partly by a deadly hail of bullets from their machine guns.

Just now an American Red Cross volunteer, traveling for the Red Cross, command how he could motor to Paris. "Take any road," was the reply. You are covered by between 300,000 and 500,000 men."

New York, Aug. 31.—Word of 1,500 American refugees arrived yesterday from Europe. They came on the St. Paul of the American line from Liverpool, which carried a total of 925 passengers, and the Espana of the French line from Havre, which had 569 passengers.

I know of no women or children being killed because their pavings being found in buildings from which shots had been fired. I have heard, I believe, that the Germans have wedged into the alleys, and that they are now using straight front to the enemy. The line from Namur south has been a zigzag, and nothing like what many strategists have guessed.

Louvain a Pitiful Ruin.
I came through this city on my way out from Belgium and saw the smoking ruins. Only the big cathedral was visible above the smoke and that may have been the only building that escaped. I can only say that I heard that the American flag was flying from the city and had been spared.

I had no opportunity to learn of the events which preceded the destruction of Louvain. The loss of this city is universally mourned in Belgium."

day to the west and south were all displaced. The French and British lines of people stretched for blocks from the railway stations today. The lines were of those so anxious to take their positions, waiting for the ticket offices to be opened at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. All places on trains departing today have been taken by families with their handbags, camped in the lines where they ate their meals and slept as best they could.

Line of 1,000.
The Quai d'Orsay station was closed at noon today, and perhaps 500 persons then in line there were told that no more tickets would be sold today. They remained there to a wait of eighteen hours.

President Poincaré visited the military hospital of St. Martin today and spoke to many of the wounded. An immense crowd gathered outside the hospital to see the president. He respectfully saluted the chief executive.

Embassy Statement Gloomy.
London, Aug. 31, 3 a. m.—The Post today calls attention to a statement issued by the French embassy as indicating that the allied forces were being driven back by the German advance in the neighborhood of La Fere, which is more than twenty miles from the Cambrai-Le-Cateau line, where the allies reorganized after the Germans crossed the French border. Fighting is also reported in the vicinity of Amiens.

La Fere is only a little more than sixty miles from Paris as the crow flies. The French government has been forced to flee from Paris. A statement issued by the French embassy discloses a situation of much gravity. A German army was 31 miles from Paris today, and another German army was attacking the west line from La Fere to Guise, making progress at La Fere. Therefore only forty miles apart.

The German army attacking on the front of Guise has been selected to head the country behind it, and a sharp offensive turning movement on the southeast by this army will intercept it between the French and Paris."

SAYS LOUVAIN FOLKS SHOT THE GERMANS
Berlin Statement Is Given Out By Embassy at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The German embassy today received the following wireless message from the Berlin foreign office, dealing with the burning of Louvain by the Germans:

His Rotterdam correspondent was an eye witness of the perfidious attack of the population of Louvain. The Germans shot with machine guns, killing an officer and a priest, and wounding many. The Germans were found for making dumplings in the streets.

DREYFUS' SON WINS PROMOTION ON FIELD
Father Also Is Given Commission in the French Army.

London, Aug. 31:36 p. m.—A dispatch from the Exchange Telegraph company from The Hague, says today that the eldest son of Maj. Alfred Dreyfus, who is serving as a sergeant in the French army, distinguished himself before the capture of the city of Toul and was promoted on the battlefield.

His father has written relatives in Utrecht, the correspondent continues, saying that the French army has been granted by Minister of War Millerand, a commission for a mission in the French army, who was convicted in 1894 of having divulged state secrets to a foreign power. His case agitated France for years.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR SAILS FROM JAPAN
Austrian Official Also Leaves for Washington; Neither Is Disturbed.

Tokio, Aug. 31.—Count von Rex, the German ambassador to Japan, accompanied by forty Germans and Austrians, has sailed for the United States on the steamer Minnesota. Baron Muller von Szentgyorgy, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, is on the steamer Manchuria. The present of the nation of both ambassadors is Washington, the approaches to the steamer were guarded when the diplomats went on board, and their departure was not disturbed.

The birthday of the emperor of Japan was celebrated today. A large procession of lantern bearers visited the British, French and Russian embassies in Tokyo, and the occasion was acknowledged by the ambassadors. The

AMERICANS TO GO WITH FIELD ARMIES
Washington, Aug. 31.—Three American officers to go to Austria-Hungary as military observers, and two officers to go with the British army, were designated today by the war department. Maj. Joseph H. Ford, one of the medical corps, now in London; Capt. Augustine McIntyre of the field artillery, who went with the relief of the Tennessee, and Capt. Berkeley Enoch, many, will go to Austria.

Capt. W. A. Castle of the infantry and Capt. J. H. Miller of the Eleventh cavalry, both at present in Paris, have been designated to accompany the British troops in the German army, Russia and France so far American observers accompany their armies.

CONCLAVE OF THE CARDINALS OPENS
Rome, Aug. 31, via Paris, Aug. 31, 5:10 p. m.—The conclave of the cardinals to elect a successor to Pope Pius X, who died Aug. 20, was inaugurated today with imposing ceremony. Mass was celebrated in the Pauline chapel in the presence of fifty-seven cardinals and their conclavists. There were present also members of the diplomatic corps, the Knights of Malta, and the aristocracy of the papal court, which for the first time since August 20 appeared without their morning dress.

The Sistine choir sang the middle mass and Monsignor Masselli delivered in Latin an oration concerning the election of the pope.

Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell are expected on Sept. 2, and if the new pope is not elected before then they can participate in the election.

Father Fin, assistant Jesuit general for France, has been selected to head the Jesuits until a successor for the late Father Francis Xavier Wernz is elected.

BOAT HITS ICEBERG; IS RUSHED TO BEACH
Tramp Grain Steamer Is on the Newfoundland Coast.

Curling, Nfld., Aug. 31.—A big tramp steamer, grain-laden, from Liverpool, is reported beached on the Newfoundland west coast, 110 miles north of here. The steamer struck an iceberg in the straits of Bellefleur and was so badly damaged that it was compelled to run ashore with her forehold full of water. Several rescue steamers have gone to the scene.

PRESIDENT PLANS NO SPEAKING TOUR
Some Party Leaders Want Him to Aid in Campaign.

Cornish, N. H., Aug. 31.—With the prospects good for clear weather, President Wilson motored to Hanover today for a round of golf with his physician, Dr. C. T. Grayson. He planned to take a long automobile ride later.

The president is making no plans to go on a speaking tour during the fall campaign, and the prospects are that he will make no such trip, although he has taken under consideration requests of Democratic leaders in Connecticut, Pennsylvania and other states that he speak in their districts.

BREAKWATER AT STAKE.

Rivers and Harbors Men Urge Early Action in Congress.

Unless a quorum of both the house and the senate is maintained after the trust and emergency bills have been disposed of, the rivers and harbors bill may be defeated, according to a letter received this morning by Mayor Prince from the secretary of the National Rivers and Harbors congress. The mayor is asked to write to the Minnesota senators and representatives, urging the passage of the bill. It carries an appropriation of nearly $1,750,000 for Minnesota, part of which would be used for the survey for the proposed breakwater and of the local harbor. The total appropriation is approximately $55,000,000.

Park Manager Exhibits Lantern at City Hall.

Henry Cleveland, manager of the park department, wasn't looking for an honest man this morning, although he carried a most brilliant "lantern." It was a gas lamp, which he is figuring on using in the parks and for skating rinks. He explains that it gives a fine light at a cost of little more than 1 cent an hour and he was carrying it to the offices of the various commissioners in the city hall to show it to them.

DELMONICO IS CLOSED

Big Restaurant Quits Because of Lack of Improvements.

W. A. Wagner Says It Is Impossible to Operate Place Longer.

The Delmonico restaurant, 417 West Superior street, was closed and dismantled this morning.

The Delmonico was the largest cafe in the city, except those maintained in connection with hotels, and daily served large numbers of patrons. During the morning and this noon many people walked through the door. They didn't notice that it had gone out of business over night until they were inside.

W. A. Wagner, the proprietor, said today that he was compelled to close because Albert N. Slop of Washington, D. C., the owner of the property, has persistently refused to make badly needed repairs.

"We have run the restaurant for ten years and during that time have spent about $15,000 for repairs which should properly have been made by the owner," said Mr. Wagner. "As the rent was $625 a month we couldn't continue to bear the burden."

Place unsanitary.

"The sanitary conditions have been such that they have been driving away business. The basement is in such shape that the smell permeates to the main room, despite the fact that the floor is really five floors laid one on top of the other. In places we have had to use boiler steel to prevent it from collapsing. The whole building is in bad shape, not to mention the rats and bugs with which it is infested."

Mr. Wagner stated that the inspectors of the health department have repeatedly warned him to improve the premises or it might be necessary to institute proceedings to put the restaurant out of business. He explained that he had informed the department that he realized the merits of the complaints but was making every effort to induce the owner to make the needed improvements. He said that besides being thoroughly renovated a new floor and a heating plant as well as other repairs are absolutely necessary. The room has been heated with stoves, a furnace never having been installed. Mr. Wagner said that he has not had a lease on the property.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF RING

Roland Knudsen Charged With Pawning Mother's Diamond.

Roland Knudsen, 20 years old, son of H. B. Knudsen, must face the St. Louis county grand jury on charge of grand larceny in the second degree. The young man is accused of having stolen a diamond ring from his mother last June and of having pawned it with a local pawn broker on June 22 for $150. The complaint against Knudsen was made by P. Labovitz, 516 West Superior street, the pawn broker who gave Roland $60 on the ring and from whom the ring was taken last week by the boy's father.

Labovitz claims that Roland misrepresented himself to him, claiming to be the owner of the ring and that the boy is guilty of grand larceny in the second degree.

Young Knudsen was arrested this morning by Detective Perry, just as the boy was about to leave for the West, having no knowledge of the warrant that had been issued against him. He waived examination in police court and was bound over to September grand jury of this county. The boy was given his temporary liberty upon the signature of a bond by Mr. Knudsen.

Knudsen lives with his parents at 228 Second avenue west.

ESCAPES FEDERAL OFFICERS; CAUGHT

Peter Couture Faces the Charge of Selling Liquor to Indians.

Brought to Duluth by Indian agents on a charge of selling liquor to Indians on the Fond du Lac reservation, Peter Couture, 27 years old, made his escape while eating supper with the officers Saturday evening, but was recaptured shortly after he had fled. He is being held at headquarters pending the arrival of the chief of the Indian reservation, who will appear against Couture.

The local Federal authorities have no complaint out against Couture, it is said this morning, so it is known in which the court the prisoner will be arraigned. He can be tried on a state charge of selling liquor to Indians and the probability is he will be arraigned in police court sometime this afternoon. The chief of the reservation is expected here this afternoon.

Frank La Duck, reservation officer, brought Couture to Duluth Saturday afternoon and him just taken his prisoner into a restaurant. While the officer was not looking Couture made a dash for liberty and in an instant was gone from sight. La Duck had an assistant with him and he ordered the latter to walk towards the West end while he himself took a car to Twentieth avenue west. Couture was captured shortly after.

HEALTH EXHIBIT AT EXPOSITION

Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, announced this morning that the health department is planning upon an extensive educational exhibit at the city industrial exhibit this fall. The department will feature the milk branch, demonstrating all steps which are taken to maintain the purity of Duluth's milk supply. The public will be shown how the tests are made to determine the percentage of butter fat, how the sediment test is made to find out how the bacteria count is made. The state dairy exhibit will also be a part of the exhibit, for which arrangements are now being made by Deputy State Inspector North, who is located in Duluth. The state will show how it proceeds to learn whether or not food products are adulterated. Dr. Webster states that it is the intention of the department to get away from this stereotyped exhibit of which inanimate objects which mean little or nothing to the public are stacked on counters or shelves.

PLAN PARCEL POST DISPLAY

Postmaster McEwen Will Arrange Exhibit at Curling Rink.

Exposition Officials Turn Over Booth Free to Uncle Sam.

The United States government will have an exhibit, showing the advantages and features of the parcel post system, including methods of shipment, articles that can be included and all information about the department, at the third annual Duluth industrial, dairy and agricultural exposition, to be held at the curling club during the week of Sept. 14.

Postmaster William E. McEwen received instructions Saturday from Postmaster General Burleson to place a parcel post exhibit at any local or county fair this year, so that the general public may become better acquainted with the system, and learn some of the advantages not known at the present time. Similar exhibits are being made throughout the country, an especially large one having been prepared for the Minnesota state fair at Hamline next week.

Booth given free.

G. H. Bate, vice chairman of the committee in charge of the third annual exposition, informed Postmaster McEwen this morning that a booth will be given free of charge to the government and that a parcel post exhibit will be welcome. Mr. McEwen will appoint a man to take charge of the exhibit and prepare the government booth for the exposition.

A feature of the exhibit will be a patent egg container, which was originated by M. Hersey of this city, who showed a sample return to Postmaster McEwen the other day. The government recently sent a request for egg containers, claiming that those now in use were not satisfactory. A feature of the exhibit will be a patent egg container, which was originated by M. Many articles in exhibit.

Included in the exhibit will also be many articles that can be sent through the parcel post. Local manufacturers and wholesale companies, who use the parcel post extensively, will be asked to send their samples to the postal department here to be placed in the exhibit at the exposition.

Postmaster McEwen wrote the postmaster at Hibbing regarding the placing of a similar exhibit at the Hibbing fair here this week. Postmaster E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis is in charge of the exhibit that is being arranged for the state fair.

LAST EXCURSION TO TWO HARBORS

Steamer America Will Close Herald Season of Trips.

The last Herald excursion of the season to Two Harbors will be held tomorrow. The steamer America will leave the Lake avenue dock at 4 p. m., thus giving every one a chance to enjoy the trip. The boat will return at 9 p. m., after staying an hour at Two Harbors. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church of Two Harbors will serve dinner in a hall across from the postoffice building. A boy who is a member of the postoffice club will be in charge of the excursion. The Herald excursion to Two Harbors have been popular all season. It is expected that a large crowd will go on the last one.

FREE LECTURE ON THE EUROPEAN WAR

The lecture tonight on "War Conditions in Europe" at the Y. M. C. A. by Prof. Van Cleave of the normal school will be a most interesting one. Charts and blackboard illustrations will be used. Prof. Van Cleave has interested small groups of people in the study of the description of the war and general conditions in Europe, and if this is any indication of what the lecture will be, tonight it will be well worth hearing. The lecture will be held at 8 o'clock. Men friends are invited. There will be no charge of admission. Mr. Van Cleave will be glad to answer any questions at the close of his lecture. The lecture throughout will be more or less informal.

NAVY RECRUITING OFFICER CHANGED

Quartermaster Erickson Will Be Called to Duty on Sea.

The navy department at Washington has appointed Peter Coyle, chief water tender, as the officer to have charge of the local navy recruiting station, succeeding Chief Quartermaster Erickson, whose service on land expires Sept. 10.

Quartermaster Erickson received word of the appointment this morning. The new man is expected here in a day or two and the former will remain in charge until Sept. 10, showing Coyle the duties at the station. Coyle was stationed on a Pacific coast battleship until two months ago, when he was detailed to land duty at the Minneapolis station.

Erickson expects to be assigned to one of the Atlantic coast battleships. He is now serving his third enlistment in the navy.

Detroit Clothing Robbery.

Detroit, Minn., Aug. 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Detroit county authorities are seeking the burglars who broke into a clothing store here Friday night and got away with about $700 worth of goods. FASHION SILK SHOW

Duluth's Annual Autumn Silk Show

Opens Tomorrow and Continues Wednesday, Thursday and Friday

A four-day display of Fashion's favored fabrics for fall. It will be highly enjoyable as well as informative—it comprises a most representative collection of the richest of silks and velvets as well as the choicest of tailoring and dress woolsens.

See "The" Silk Show and You Will See Fashion's Finest

Duluthians may well be proud of the "Silk Show"—no store in the land shows finer fabrics—it is truly representative of the best there is for those who want the best.

But see it now—later on assortments will be depleted—the imported fabrics cannot be duplicated at any price because of the war—and the scarcity of dye stuffs will likewise make it impossible to duplicate American fabrics in many of the new shades.

And prices have already advanced, but we have marked our goods on basis of before-the-war prices

Thus you see the situation—we believe you'll plan to benefit by the Silk Show on our Third Floor—never mind the weather—you'll find great pleasure here tomorrow.

33,000 ACRES ARE OPENED

Uncle Sam Turns Over Big Tract to Homesteaders.

About 8,000 Acres in St. Louis County; Cost, $125 an Acre.

According to an order issued by the commissioner of the general land office forwarded to the United States land office at Duluth, Aug. 27, 33,000 acres of land within the limits of the Nett Lake Indian reservation will be opened to homestead entry. The lands lie within townships 64, 65 and 66 and ranges 21 and 22.

The lands will be open to homestead entry only under the general provisions of the act of Jan. 14, 1880, which requires payment of $125 an acre and residence and cultivation.

On Aug. 10, 1909, these lands were withdrawn from entry for allotments to Indians living on the reservation. While much of the newly opened territory is swampy in character, much of it is good agricultural land, and will afford splendid homes for those who are willing to work and undergo the hardships and privations incident to the opening of new territory.

About 25,000 acres of the newly released lands are within Koochiching county and the remaining 8,000 acres within St. Louis county. The village of Orr on the Canadian Northern line is the nearest railroad station, and is 120 miles from Duluth. There has been much inquiry for the land, and it is expected that there will be quite a lively interest in securing the more desirable tracts.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

WITH THE AMATEUR BASEBALL TEAMS

In the games of the Federal league, played yesterday, the Eagles won both of the games played at Athletic park, defeating the Owls and the Modern Brotherhood team. The Owls defeated the Eagles by the score of 8 to 2 and won from the brotherhood aggregation by the count of 4 to 3. At Des Moines park, Samaritan No. 3 team defeated the Owls by the score of 7 to 2.

The Duluth Heights aggregation yesterday had a picnic with the baseball team representing, or misrepresenting, the Camels, defeating the Duluth team by the score of 4 to 4. Bowers and Campbell worked in the battery points for the winning team, and Miles and Amundson formed the battery for the Camels.

The Junior Columbus yesterday defeated the Longfellow in a one-sided game of baseball by the score of 14 to 0.

O. Spindler was on the rubber for the winning team and allowed the opposition but three hits. The Columbus are out to meet any of the 17-year-old teams in the city.

The score by innings: R. H. E. Longfellow...00000000—0 3 5 Columbus...511120000—10 13 3 Batteries—Olsen, Holder and Kaino; Spindler and L. Oswald.

The Zenith Furnace Baseball team yesterday defeated the Pitwells out of the Fifty-second avenue west grounds in a one-sided baseball game by the score of 13 to 3. Dougall was on the mound for the Iron men, and in addition to keeping the hits of the opposing team well scattered, hit out two triples. The defeat of yesterday puts the Pitwells out of running for the championship of Duluth and Superior.

The score by innings: R. H. E. Zenith Furnace...11033041—13 8 2 Pitwells...00000000—0 3 5 Batteries—Dougall and Brown; Nobby Clark and Kosack, Butler.

The Big Duluth were victorious in the game against the Superior Bottling company's baseball team, yesterday, the victory being won by the score of 5 to 3. The Big Duluths hit in five scores in the first frame.

Peterson and Lindberg formed the battery for the Duluth team, and clearly worked in the battery points for the defeated team.

Woman's Realm

Miss Mary De Witt, a graduate of the Kansas City School of Law, says it is necessary to get out into the country to convince the people that equal suffrage is the proper thing. Miss De Witt will be the instructor in a suffrage school that is to be established in Kansas City, Mo., where those who wish may learn how to stump Missouri this fall in the interest of the woman suffrage amendment. Mrs. Henry N. Ess, who was an active worker for the suffrage resolution at the General Federation of Women's Clubs will be one of the pupils in the new school and later will do some stumping. Other prominent women of that state who will take active part in this fall in the course of equal suffrage are Miss Charlotte Rumbold, secretary of the St. Louis Public Recreation commission, who was the first person to suggest the St. Louis amendment and Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, the well known short story writer. Equal suffrage in the East has gained another champion in Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell university, who signed the suffrage petition presented to him by Harriet Stanton Blatch and her committee. President Schurman is considered an important ally as he is a member of the committee that is to draft the platform to be submitted to the New York Republican convention next month.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY.

Birthday Celebration Should Continue Through Life.

I went to a birthday party the other day. It was a little unusual in that the one in whose honor the festivities were arranged was 53 years old. In every other respect it was just such a party as a 5-year-old boy or girl. It included all of the host's best friends and there was such a spread as delighted our hearts when we were children. And the party—the spread—that was host of all, naturally. There was crab-cake, salad and delicate little rolls and a great birthday cake, ornately frosted, with a perfect forest of candles on its top, the finest cream cakes I ever ate! Candies and nuts, ice cream and a delicious fruit punch. Most of the folk present were full grown, but how they enjoyed themselves and how the date vanished.

The birthday anniversary celebration in the average family is confined to the children's first years. These celebrations to an end all too soon and with them the joyous occasions which every little child has a right to anticipate on his natal day. Indeed, these festivities are done away with before the idea they commemorate is understood by the small boy or girl for whom they are lovingly arranged.

A little supper composed of dishes the celebrant likes, a few flowers, some good music, one's best loved

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Muriel Cole and Baldwin Players in "The Little Rebel."

OLYMPIA—Vaudeville and motion pictures.

CHILD ACTRESS SCORES.

Muriel Cole Shows Rare Talent as "Little Rebel."

"And a little child shall lead them." Thus a very dear little girl fulfills the Biblical quotation, surrounded by the agonies of America's greatest struggle, the Civil war, in one of the greatest of all dramatic plays ever presented in Duluth. "The Little Rebel," from the pen of the dramatist Edward Peple, and adequately enacted by the Baldwin Stock company. The play has been in course of preparation for several weeks, and either in talent or setting, with the result that the play has been twice Sunday at the Lyceum by appreciative audiences.

Seeking to give Duluth the best obtainable, Manager Baldwin has reached outside of this city a capable aggregation of talent for the purpose of presenting in this week's offering, little Muriel Cole, a child actress with metropolitan following, and one of the actors assumed the role of Virginia, the play's heroine. Muriel Cole is a beautiful child, and her acting is a beautiful thing to see. Her interpretation of the title role of the play is unusual. One cannot resist the work of the Lyceum well-known child actress, and she is a well-learned little kiddle!

After several weeks of rather skimp opportunities, Miss Muriel Cole has been back where she distinctly belongs—in an occasional role. For the short time given her, she makes an extremely pretty and gracious wife and mother.

Homer Barton, leading man of the Baldwin players, emphatically proved his versatility in the role of John "the damned Yankee," and made the audience sympathize with his sympathy and magnanimity. He is a coming actor, and he is a coming actor.

Stefano's General Grant was effective, and was a bit of the best of the Baldwin players. He is a well-known actor, and he is a well-known actor.

Ann, the nurse, was very well done—her part was well played. She is a well-known actress, and she is a well-known actress.

Miss Muriel Cole's work is a beautiful thing to see. Her interpretation of the title role of the play is unusual. One cannot resist the work of the Lyceum well-known child actress, and she is a well-learned little kiddle!

The few others of the company, individually, are well known. They are a well-known company, and they are a well-known company.

The story of the play is filled with surprises, with war-time hatred, fighting, escapes, captures, death sentences, and other dramatic incidents. It is a successful war drama. "The Little Rebel," some believe, long will stand as one of America's greatest dramatic plays, and Duluthians are fortunate to have seen it.

The local stock company, in whose hands difficult work seems easy. The time given her, she makes an extremely pretty and gracious wife and mother.

MUSIC AND DANCING

Feature the New Vaudeville Bill at the Orpheum.

Music and dancing are the chief items on the vaudeville menu at the Orpheum theater this week.

It is an all-star dancing program, with plenty of music interspersed. Every act on the bill, but one, either sings or dances. It is unfortunate that so many of the acts are contained on one bill, but do not become monotonous.

George White and Isabel Jason are the highlights of the bill. They have a series of clever songs and then offer a series of dances of a whirlwind order. The dances are well played, and the ballroom dances but a little different from the stage dances.

The young people are clever and graceful and have those two other necessary qualifications of a vaudeville act—personality and good clothes. It is a clever and graceful act, and it is a clever and graceful act.

Two more nimble-footed and agile men than Lou Lockett and Jack Walker are the Royal Russian troupe of singers, dancers and instrumentalists. They are composed of seven high class players, who do a variety of entertaining stunts that were well received.

Claude Golden is a remarkably fine baritone, renders a number of songs in dialect. He also does several classic Russian dances, assisted by other members of the troupe.

Stanley Hall and Lorraine appear in a comedy, "The Lion's Share," which got the lion's share of the applause. The play is a well constructed comedy. The play is a well constructed comedy.

The present bill will continue at the New Grand until Thursday with daily performances from noon until 11 p. m.

GUY BATES POST IN "OMAR, THE TENTMAKER."

Not in many months has the stage been graced with so attractive and successful a romantic drama as "Omar, the Tentmaker," the spectacular Persian love play in which Guy Bates Post will play an engagement at the Lyceum theater, for three nights with two matinees, beginning on Labor day matinee.

The play relates the engrossing love-life of one of the most engaging characters in the world's history. Omar Khayyam, the merry-hearted Persian poet, mystic of the eleventh century. In the title role Mr. Post endeared himself to the affections of New York theater-goers during the last season to a degree unrivaled by any actor since the passing of the late Richard Mansfield. It is rare indeed that an actor so completely visualizes a heroic figure that his conception is universally accepted at par value by even the staunchest admirers of the hero in question. Such, however, is the notable achievement of Mr. Post in his remarkable characterization of the beloved Omar.

"Omar, the Tentmaker" is from the beloved poem by Richard Walcott Tully, and has scored a much more popular success than did his preceding works, "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Rose of the Rancho." Mr. Tully succeeded in bringing to the stage all the captivating and lovable qualities in Omar's nature without in the least lessening his humanity and pathos. That he has woven around the poet's story moving and constantly enthralling.

Historically, the production established a record in scenic embellishment, the many elaborate scenes having been designed by Mr. Tully and directed by Eugene O'Neill. The play is the rose-bowered garden shimmering in silver moonlight that opens the play while for realistic detail and

POLISH TAG DAY BRINGS IN $940

Girls With Flowers Are Well Received By Duluth Public.

Tag day for the parish of St. Joseph's Polish Catholic church Saturday netted about $940, according to Rev. Father K. Sokolinski, pastor of the church. He expressed himself as being pleased with the splendid donation made by the public and desired to extend his thanks to the people who so generously contributed.

The idea of initiation roses for tags proved to be rather popular, especially by when those who were doing the tagging were young women decked out in the brilliant costumes and regalia of Poland. All the receipts have not been turned in, but those who have checked up have turned in over $934.

NEWS OF SISTER'S DEATH WITHHELD

Parents Fear to Break Story to Youth in Hospital.

Convalescent after an operation, Gale Lockhart, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lockhart, 2701 Huron street, is lying at St. Mary's hospital. Ignorant of the fact that his sister, Marie, 10 years old, died at the same institution last Friday, after a short illness from diphtheria. Members of the family are keeping the news from him, for fear it may cause a setback in his improvement.

Gale and Marie had grown to be very fond of one another, and

EXPENSIVE AMUSEMENTS

Many Thousand Dollars Expended for the State Fair Program.

Chief Feature Will Be Auto Races on Last Afternoon.

Never has the Minnesota state fair staged a cleaner and more expensive amusement program than the one planned for the week of Sept. 7 to 12. Tens of thousands of dollars have been expended in obtaining the best talent in the new and old world.

The feature of it all will be the auto races Sept. 12, the last afternoon of the fair. The greatest galaxy of auto racers ever gathered in the Northwest will entertain the 100,000 persons expected on that day. Entries from all over America have been made, as over $1,500 in special prizes will be hung up by the fair for world's records that may be broken.

Barney Oldfield, holder of the world's mile record on a circular dirt track, will attempt to break it on that day. He has agreed on forfeit to drive a mile one second faster than any other. Louis Disbrow, holder of more world's records than any other driver, will compete against Oldfield for supremacy on the one-mile and five-mile tracks. Eddie Rickenbacker, winner of the Sioux City Speedway race, July 4, and Bill Knipfer, who is driving the Delage car used by Rene Thomas when he won the Indianapolis Speedway race on Decoration day, will be two other runners-up.

Other noted drivers entered are Joe Cleary, Eddie Hearns, Fred Horey and Johnny Ratney, driver of Case, Case Special, Tornado and Buller cars. An excellent program has been arranged for the entire afternoon, and some sensational driving is certain to ensue.

"The World at Home." In place of the Pike of former years, there will be a great educational show for parents and children, called "The World at Home." It will be located at the tip of the lagoon and will cover many acres. An immense model of the Panama canal, designed by the architect who made the original model for the United States government, will be exhibited, expert lecturers explaining how the canal works. There will be a large menagerie of wild beasts and birds taken from a leading zoological park. The other shows will be similar in nature.

There is no concert band in America as good as the Liberal Concert band and grand opera band, which is to play during the entire week. Organized for over forty years, it has gained a reputation all over the world. This great band consists of forty-five players and consists of the greatest cornet soloists in America. Other bands include the First and Second Regimental bands, Minnesota State band, Zumbardo Concert band and Crookston Citizens' band. There are three orchestras.

Flying by Aerobatics. E. R. Hutchinson, the daring aviator who has devised a means of taking eight and ten parachute drops from one balloon at one ascension, will thrill the fairgoers. This act is said to be superior to any of its kind ever produced.

Horse polo, in which America is becoming so interested, will be played each day by picked teams. Auto polo, said to be one of the most dangerous games played, will be put on at the fair by the originator of the sport. Persons participating are often injured severely, and head-on collisions are frequent.

The Horse Races. A troupe of horses in a stamper chase and thirty-six racing hounds will amuse the grandstand occupants each day. A $1,000 saddle horse stake will be shown before the grandstand Friday, Sept. 11. The harness races, in which $25,000 in purses will be distributed, will attract some of the best horses in America.

May Wirth, the greatest lady bareback rider anywhere, now playing in England and France, will astonish all with her skill. The New York Hippodrome elephants, engaged at New York for seven successive seasons, have been obtained for the entire week. Many other high-class vaudeville acts have been engaged to fill the three great arenas before the grandstand, afternoon and evening.

Big Fireworks Display. Each evening before the grandstand there will be a big fireworks display, called the "Opening of the Panama Canal." A scenic picture of the canal over 400 feet long will serve as a background. Over 300 persons will take part in a spectacle of nations. Suddenly at a signal the fireworks display opens, breaking down the last obstacle between the Atlantic and Pacific.

Many other amusement features have been provided. Suffice to say, no one liking good, clean entertainment can afford to miss the Minnesota state fair.

PRODUCTION OF IRON ORE

Output in 1913 Largest Ever, Increasing Six Million Tons.

Five-Eighths of Total Produced By the Minnesota Ranges.

Washington, Aug. 31.—According to statistics recently completed by Ernest E. Bouchard of the United States geological survey, the production and shipments of iron ore in the United States exceeded those of any previous year. The crude iron ore mined in the United States in 1913 amounted to 61,980,437 long tons, compared with 55,150,147 tons mined in 1912—an increase of 6,830,290 tons, or 12.38 per cent. The iron ore shipped from the mines in the United States in 1913 amounted to 52,613,998 long tons, valued at $130,905,558, compared with 47,012,514 long tons, valued at $107,050,163, marketed in 1912—an increase in quantity of 5,601,484 long tons, or 11.91 per cent, and in value of $23,855,395, or 22.28 per cent.

The average price of one ton of iron ore in the United States in 1913 was $2.19, compared with $1.88 in 1912. These quantities of ore, both mined and marketed, include the iron ore used for refining other metals ore at smelters in the Middle and Western states, but do not include the iron ore sold for the manufacture of pig iron. The iron ore marketed for pig iron in 1913 amounted to 16,550 long tons, valued at $44,851, compared with 15,512 long tons, valued at $37,012, in 1912.

The ore reported as sold for refining purposes other than in the manufacture of pig iron amounted to 68,342 long tons, valued at $235,538, in 1913, compared with 68,442 long tons, valued at $234,512, in 1912. The domestic iron ore actually marketed for the manufacture of pig iron amounted in 1913 to 55,880,256 long tons, valued at $130,609,370, compared with 50,925,165 long tons, valued at $106,805,538, in 1912.

Iron ore was mined in twenty-eight states in 1913, one more than in 1912. Idaho, Montana and Nevada produced

Earache

THE cause of most earaches is not set-at-table from the outside. That is why ear-drops do not often put a stop to the pain. But even if the pain seems temporarily alleviated by drops it should not be taken for granted that no further ill effects will ensue.

Nowadays parents do not take the long chances parents took on home doctoring a generation ago. Earache has been removed from the domestic class and placed in the category of ailments demanding medical attention. It is not one whit more serious than it used to be when we were children, but it is now considered better to be safe than sorry.

Inflammation Always Present. In every instance earache is due to some inflammatory cause, either in the outer canal or, more frequently, in the inner organs. What doctors call the middle ear, inside the drum. A boil in the external canal certainly will produce an exquisite earache as one could desire; and local remedies, if not local surgery, will give relief. But local treatment for the earache may do more harm than good. Delay in seeking professional advice often leads to loss of hearing, sometimes to loss of life.

Inflammation of the inner (middle) ear results from recent or recent inflammation of the nose or throat—coryza (head "cold"), adenoids, tonsillitis or sore throat, scarlet fever, measles. Infection travels up the Eustachian tubes from the back of the nasal passages to the cavity of the inner ear.

If pus (matter) forms as a result of the inflammation in the ear, as it is pretty certain to do, the patient is in danger till the pus finds an outlet, either by the "katheterizing" through the drum or by incision of the drum before it bursts. Abscess (a gathering) in the inner ear is one of the serious results of the so-called common "cold." It is one more argument for isolating persons with colds, or for keeping children away from them.

The Risk to Life. The chief danger from earache is that the inflammation may extend through a paper-thin wall of bone directly into the brain and cause brain abscess or meningitis. Usually, however, the inflammation penetrates the air-spaces in the bone behind the inner ear—the mastoid bone—and sets up mastoiditis.

Don't drop oil in the ear canal. Use warm glycerine instead. Gentle warm douching of the canal relieves the pain. Hot mustard foot baths are always helpful.

Dr. Brady still answers all questions pertaining to the ear. If it is not it will be answered through this column. For individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

CARRY CASE TO COURTS

Hotel Proprietor Gets Temporary Injunction Against the Commission.

Hearing Set for Friday—Council Will Postpone Action.

The city council will not vote on the proposed revocation of the saloon license of the St. Louis hotel at its regular meeting this afternoon. Judge H. A. Dancer of the district court signed a restraining order Saturday directing the city officials to show cause why they should not be restrained from revoking the license held by J. W. Irwin, proprietor of the hotel. The order is returnable next Friday and was issued at the instance of H. J. Grannis, attorney for Mr. Irwin.

At its meeting last Monday the council passed a resolution directing Mr. Irwin to appear before it at 3 o'clock this afternoon to show cause why his license should not be revoked. That resolution was introduced by Commissioner Hicken and cited that the safety division has in its possession certain evidence which would tend to prove that the St. Louis hotel has not been conducted in compliance with the regulations. Two weeks ago, Harry Roscoe and George Roscoe, a husband and wife, were convicted in the police court of having sold liquor in the hotel. Frank Wright, a third waiter, was charged with the sale of a similar charge. The conviction of the hotel manager, contrary to orders and outside of the bar, which was closed as required by law. For those reasons Mr. Irwin asserts the license should not be revoked.

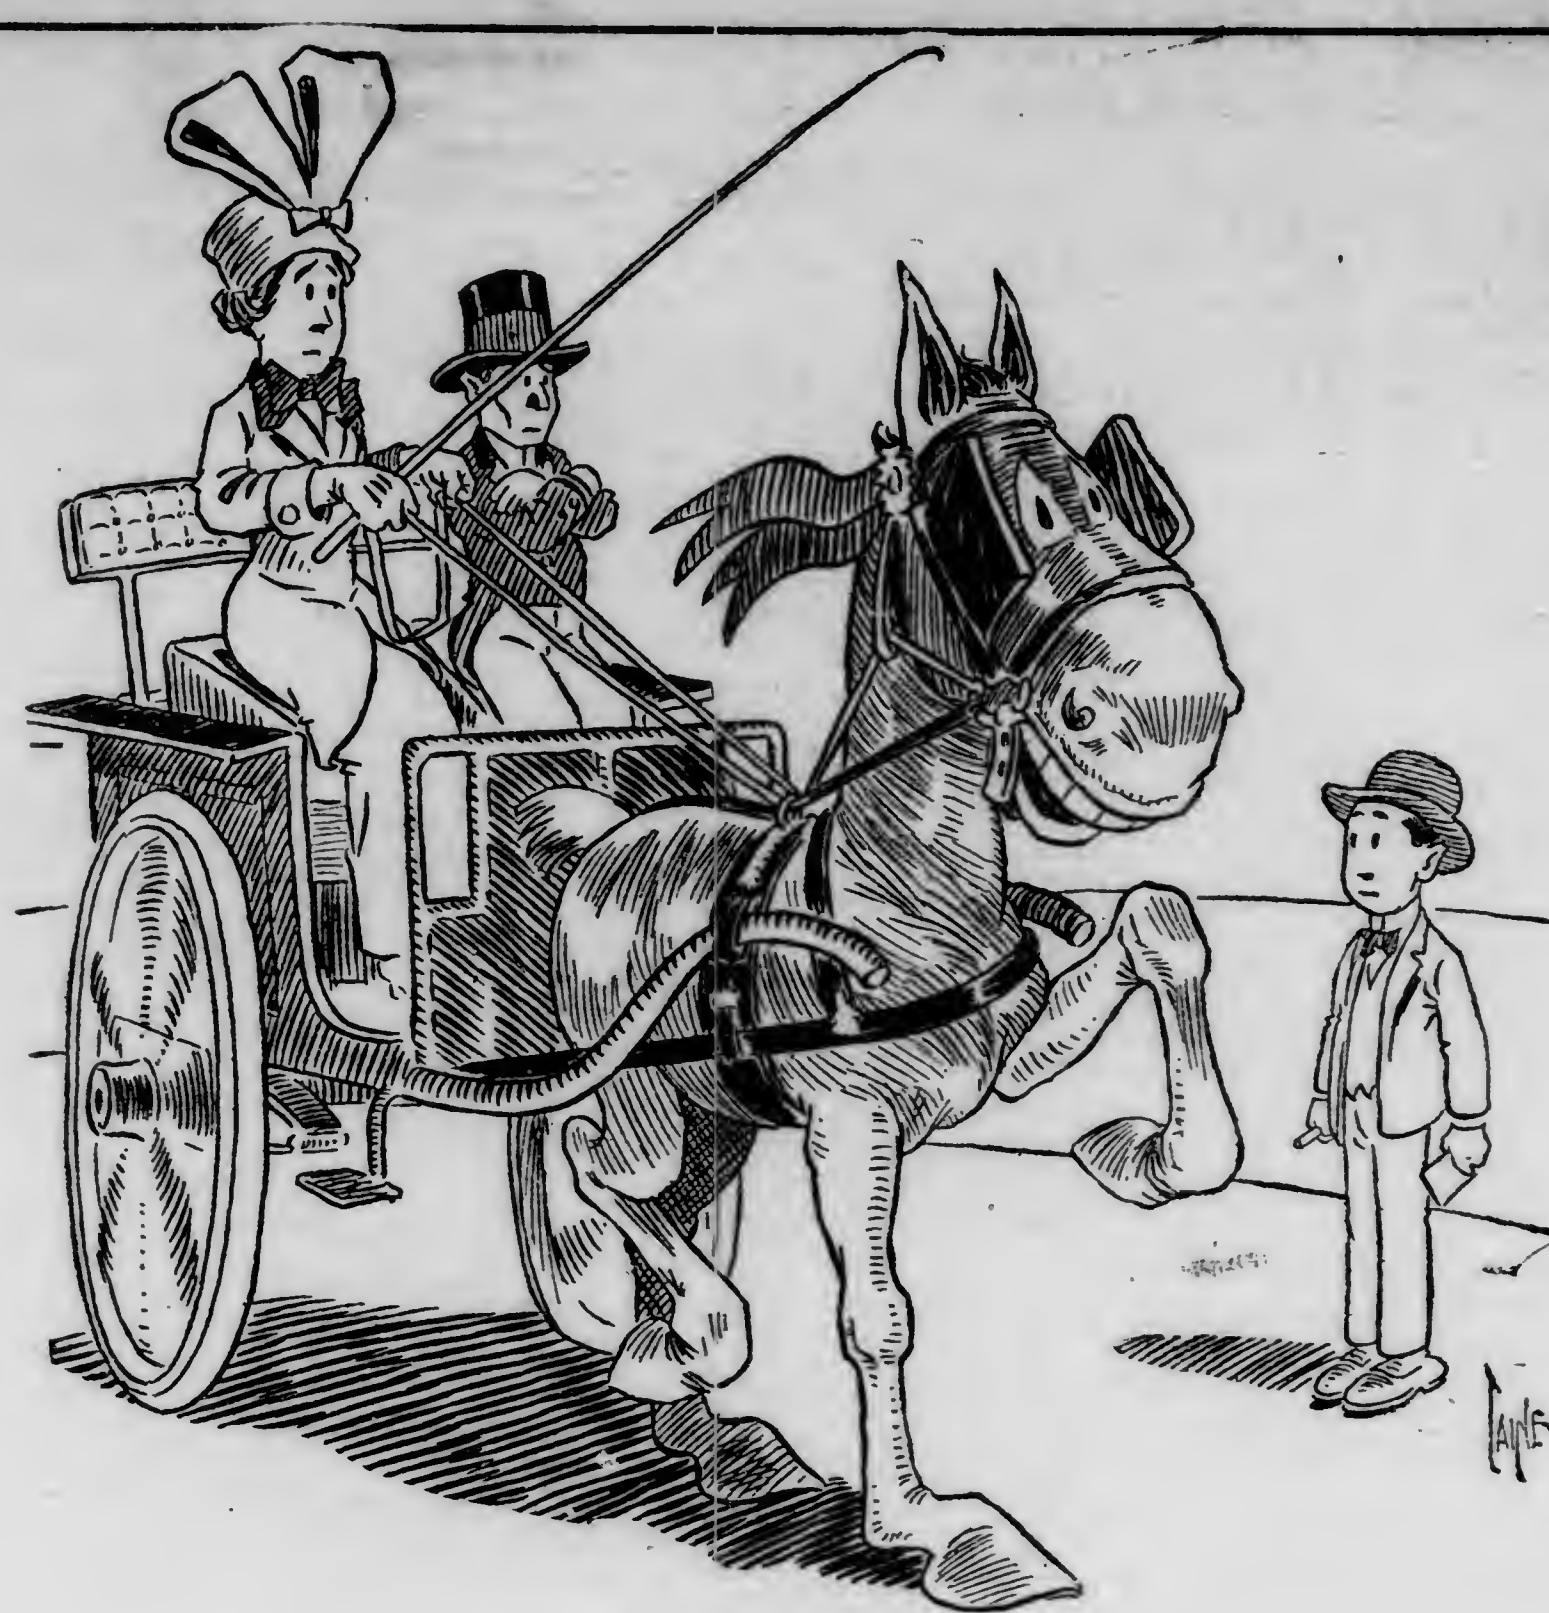

Hicken's Side of It. Commissioner Hicken states that both the proprietor and the manager, Milton Lewis, were given ample warning that the police department would not condone violations of the liquor ordinance or the state law, either in the bar proper or elsewhere in the hotel. He says that he told both of them personally that they would be held responsible for the acts of their agents and that the hotel would be under observation to see that they obeyed the regulations. He adds that he made it very plain that if any violations occurred he would recommend the revocation of the saloon license. This warning was given, he claims, at the time the license came up for renewal a couple of months ago. It was held up for a couple of weeks because reports had been received that the hotel was not being conducted along lines meeting with the approval of the safety division.

The safety commissioner says that he informed Messrs. Irwin and Lewis of the reports and stated that he would not recommend a renewal until they had given sufficient assurance that the future conduct of the hotel would be free of features of which complaint had been made.

The restraining order will be served on the city at the next meeting. The basis for the order is that in the Shoups case the supreme court held that the notice served was a summary proceeding and that Mr. Irwin is entitled to be fully informed of the charges against him so that an adequate defense can be made.

TO SUMMER TOURISTS AND THEIR DULUTH HOSTS

The Street Railway Company wants to do its share toward giving summer visitors in this city a good impression of Duluth.

The street car service of any city is one of the first features to impress a visitor. We want visitors to Duluth to carry away an impression of clean, well ventilated, comfortable cars; prompt and efficient service, and courteous employees.

Here is an extract from the company's rules which may be of interest to summer visitors:

"Conductors are expected to be familiar with principal points along their route, so as to be able to give information to passengers about streets, parks, connecting or intersecting railway lines, depots, ferries, public buildings, large stores, hospitals, theaters, etc."

The Duluth Commercial Club maintains an information bureau at Fifth avenue west and Superior street. There you will be directed to the proper car to take to reach any given point. General information regarding the city can also be obtained if you will "Ask Mr. Hanna" at 410 West Superior Street. After you have boarded that car the conductor will give you any further information you need.

A trip to the top of our Inclined Railway will give a visitor a better general idea of the topography of the Head of the Lakes than any number of maps, and a view that is equalled by few on this continent.

MARKET HAS GOOD BULGE

Wheat Sells Higher on Liberal Milling and Speculative Inquiry.

Flaxseed Advances With Good Crushers' Demand and Light Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, Aug. 31.—The market was strong up to the close. September wheat closed 3 1/2c, and December 3 1/4c up. September durum closed 4 1/2c up; October 4 1/4c up; November 3 1/2c up and December 3 1/4c up. Oats closed 3 1/2c up at 47 1/2c, rice closed 2c up at 50 1/2c for the lot on track. Barley closed unchanged at 62c to 71c.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed 1 1/2c up at 52 1/2c and December 3 1/4c up at 51 1/2c. Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at $1.13 and calls at $1.23 1/2 asked.

Resumption of buying on an extended scale resulted in sharp advance at all points. The American wheat markets today, with special strength showing in the December option. As a Duluth operator remarked, "Any man who has money wants to speculate in wheat these days in view of the prospects for a prolonged war, and the outside almost invariably trade on the long side. The slump at the end of last week was thought by them to have brought the market down to attractive levels, so that traders had heavy buying orders from customers at the execution at this opening this morning. They will continue to buy till another shake-up comes along."

Higher Liverpool cables was a contributory factor to the bullish sentiment, and there were also advices to the effect that farmers are showing an increasing tendency to hold their grain. That is evidenced in the light receipts at this stage in comparison with the amount of stuff thrashed in the preceding week.

The market at Winnipeg was strong due to the development of some export inquiry and the reported putting through of a fair volume of business. The movement of grain at the board is gradually expanding and the congestion has been largely relieved at all points. Exporters are said to be making good progress in cleaning their outstanding contracts. Arrivals at Liverpool last week were enormous, and those of the present week are expected to be still more liberal. The amount of grain on passage last week was 25,552,000 bu., or 1,500,000 bu. more than during the preceding week.

Oats were strong today on large export sales and good bidding by Great Britain. September wheat opened 5 1/2c up at $1.16, and gained 1 1/2c to $1.17 1/2. The December option opened 5 1/2c up at $1.14, and gained 1 1/2c to $1.15 1/2. Oats were unchanged at $1.06, and advanced 5c; November 1 1/2c more, and the December option opened 5 1/2c up at $1.09 1/2, and gained 2 1/2c to $1.12.

Sharp Bulge in Flax.—Crushed flaxseed on a fairly liberal scale this morning. The market for flaxseed was light. That led to substantial advances in quotations during the opening. September flaxseed opened at $1.57 and closed 6 1/2c up at $1.63 1/2. October flaxseed opened at $1.56 and closed 6 1/2c up at $1.62 1/2. November flaxseed opened unchanged at $1.61 and closed 6 1/2c up at $1.67 1/2. At Winnipeg, October flaxseed closed at $1.43 bid, November closed at $1.44 bid and December at $1.46 bid.
